Recently there has been a huge growth in demand of body correction therapies and treatments all over India. Be it weight loss, weight gain, hair gain, or plastic surgery. Young or old, people of all ages are openly adopting clinical treatment to get the desired looks. There is no reason why one should cope with abnormal looks. There are more expert plastic surgeons available in India today than ever before. People who have got their face damaged in accidents, and those who have got some part of their body under developed or extra developed can get it corrected now. This can be achieved through several surgical and non surgical techniques. Be it cosmetic enhancement, or functionality reconstructive operation, everything is performed efficiently and affordably in India. Advanced plastic surgery techniques are being practiced in India. This perhaps is the reason why many foreigners head towards India for their plastic surgery requirements. Some of the common types of plastic surgeries include:

Breast Augmentation: This procedure is known as Augmentation mammoplasty in medical terms. Some other common terms for this procedure include â€˜breast enhancementâ€™ or â€˜breast enlargeme Under this procedure either silicone or saline breast are implanted behind breast tissue, or below the chest muscle, to give it desired shape, size and fullness. There are various ways to perform this operation however not all the procedures are approved by FDA yet.

Breast Reduction: This operation can be performed on both male and female persons. The enlargement of breast in male is known as Gynecomastia in medical terms. This not only makes it uncomfortable for the bearer, but might get irritating if milk secretion takes place. The problem usually is said to be due to hormonal imbalance. In women the extra large breasts may restrict activities, and create neck or back pain too. Mammaplasty, the breast reduction treatment is very successful in most of such cases.

Botox â€“ this is a cosmetic plastic surgery procedure, ideal for those who want to keep their looks intact for the long term. Botox injections can reduce signs of aging such as creases and frown lines from the face easily. The treatment is much popular as a way to regain smoother skin and youthful appearance. However, before opting for this treatment, one must make sure that the seal of Botox injection is broken in your presence.

Nose Correction: Also known as Rhinoplasty, this is a very common procedure being used by many people these days. The shape and size of nose affects the facial appearance very much. The operation is said to be one of the most complex as it needs to be performed spontaneously solely by feel only. In some cases this surgery is also used to help patients breathe easily, or when it is broken in any accident.

Some other cosmetic plastic surgery treatments include scar removal, mini face lift, liquid face lift, body lift, Hymenoplasty, weight loss and tummy tuck. There are some very experienced plastic surgeons available in India these days. If you are looking for a plastic surgeon in India try to find one online first.
