Summertime is all about adventure. With Rubicon Extreme Off-road Capability and Off-road Tuned Braking, what better vehicle to go exploring in this summer than a 2012 Jeep Wrangler? Not only does this vehicle impress on (and off) the road, but it is also loaded with tons of cool entertainment features.

The 2012 Jeep Wrangler is available with everything from 16-inch steel wheels to 18-inch 7-spoke polished aluminum wheels. The Wrangler features rugged details, like exposed door hinges, a fold-down windshield, trapezoidal wheel arches and a short front and rear overhang. Halogen headlamps and fog lamps give the new Wrangler an updated, sportier look. You can give your Wrangler a personal touch with a Body-Colour Freedom Hardtop, a Sunrider Soft Top, or a combination of the two with a Dual-Top Group.

When it comes to the 2012 Wranglerâ€™s interior, no detail has been overlooked. It offers more style and sophistication than any of its predecessors. The centre stack has been improved to offer easier access, better visibility and more functionality. The controls on the centre stack have been specially positioned in order to help drivers maintain focus while theyâ€™re on the road. In fact, with steering wheel audio and speed controls, you will never have to take your hands off the wheel when youâ€™re driving. In addition to great looks, the Wranglerâ€™s interior also has tons of amazing hidden featuresâ€”ample storage space, Automatic Temperature Control and Heated Front Seats are just a few.

The 2012 Wrangler also includes tons of fun entertainment features. With three media centres to choose fromâ€”the 130, 430N and 730Nâ€”you could have features like CD/MP3 Radio, Voice Command with Bluetooth, SIRIUS Satellite Radio and an enhanced GPS Garvin Navigation System. These are just some of the key entertainment features that are worth noticing in the 2012 Jeep Wrangler.
