HTC One V is a member of Android 4.0 series smartphones but brings back legendary chin design which was seen in way old models, HTC Legend and Hero. HTC One V is an accurate option for those who do not want to invest big amounts on smartphones like Huaweiâ€™s Ascend D-Quad and HTCâ€™s One X but wants to pay less cash on their phones.

The One V handset is embedded with metallic unibody along with chin design and has a finishing of matte black color. All three of the smartphones released by HTC viz., One X, One S and One V, are all with awfully good quality of display along with excellent facets that makes users fascinated towards them. HTC One V will b brought up with a display of 3.7-inch of Super LCD 2 type and with the resolution of 480x800 pixels, so it guarantees crystal clear visuals with wide angle viewing and splendid color illustration. There is no such great difference between Super LCD and Super LCD 2 type panels. They both provide good visuals, non-comparable to HTC One X and iPhone, but better than the rest of smartphone and other handsets.
