Mini Vacation in Mini Budget for January Month-End by Studio Estique

Article published on February 1st 2012 | Vacations

The year 2012 looks promising for holiday lovers. Last year, public holidays fell on Sundays, making the holiday list tinier than ever before. However, this year January 26 to January 31 promises revelry. People have begun scouting for options for destinations, adventures, and whatnot. We bring forth some suggestions that you might have missed.

How about visiting Pune? Yes, we know Pune is a most visited destination. Nevertheless, this time explore some unfamiliar yet adventurous destinations. As the title suggest, these are meant for fringe budgets. If you love boating amongst the valleys, then Panshet near Pune is the best option. For those who love the toy train ride, then head to Matheran near Pune. Also, do not forget the evergreen holiday options viz. Mahabaleshwar and Panchgani. Besides, Lonavala, Khandala, etc. are there too. Do you need more reasons to visit Pune?

Now we come to selecting budget hotels in Pune, which could have been a real tough task, if there wasnâ€™t Studio Estique. Now you might think that Pune budget hotels offering luxury are a myth.
