Article published on January 16th 2012 | Travel

So, you are all set for your next trip and you have decided to go this time by air. May be this is your maiden flight or you have not planned air travel by yourself on previous occasions. If such is the case and you are feeling a bit worried then let me tell you below mentioned points should help to ease out some of your tension.

Travel Itinerary

First of all try to decide the date and the destination which you want to visit. If you want to book your tickets online, itâ€™s very simple. Do a bit of research on popular search engines like Google, Yahoo and Bing to find out leading online travel portals. You will see names of different travel portals on your screen. Click on the link of your favorite portal and you will reach the portalâ€™s website.As you enter the information including the date, arrival and departure destinations and number of passengers, you will get a huge listing of available flights on the respective dates that you requested. You may be shown cheap flights if you intend to go after some days or book your tickets few days in advance.

Personal Details

Now that you have the listing of different flights on your desktop, the next step is to fill up your personal information. First of all mention your first and last name followed by your date of birth, contact number and gender. The name and date of birth should match with the government approved ID card. In case there is some discrepancy, you wonâ€™t be allowed to board the flight. In case you want your itinerary data and ticket be delivered through email, you need to provide an email address.

Credit or Debit Card Info

After feeling up the personal details, the next step is payment. You can make payment through debit or credit cards. When you click on the make payment option, a new window with few boxes will appear. You need to enter the credit/debit card number, expiry date, and CVV code which is written on the back side of your card. Just click on PAY button and your ticket is booked within minutes.

Please pay attention to this fact that some airlines donâ€™t share their ticket information with online travel portals. In that case you should go to the respective airlineâ€™s website and book tickets.

Before booking tickets, you should also research about different airlines to know about their services and facilities. Generally government backed airlines are known for offering superlative flight services at low cost. Air India is one such airline which is backed by Government of India and features excellent services. It also covers maximum number of destinations in its class.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/travel-articles/information-needed-to-book-a-flight.htm - Article Side

Andrewsmith - About Author:

A. J. Smith is a travel writer for OneTravel and writes articles with special focus on travel industry, besides sharing tips and nuggets on how to get Cheap Flights from popular airlines such as a Asiana Airlines, a Qatar Airways Spirit Airlines and Lufthansa Airlines.

Article Keywords:
Asiana Airlines,Asiana Airlines tickets,Qatar Airways,Qatar Flights

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!