Nissan Teana has been launched by Nissan motors in its attempt to capture the Indian sedan market. The face lifted Teana is expediently designed and unbelievably powerful, making it clearly a winner on Indian roads. It falls in the luxury class of sedans, thanks to the excellent blend of style and power. It is available in two petrol variants and will undoubtedly give a tough competition to Toyota Camry and Skoda Superb.

Under the hood of Teana

The 2498 cc, 24 valves DOHC V6 petrol engine is considered to be the ten best engines in the market, ranked consecutively for many years. The engine creates a power of 182 ps@6000 RPM with a maximum torque of 23.2 kg-m@ 4400 rpm. The smartly designed shifting XTRONIC Continuously Variable Transmission can be governed with a single finer. Also, notable is the ECCS Electronic Fuel Injection Control which ensures optimal generation of power and improves the fuel economy of the car. It has multi-link type suspension on the rear and ball-joint type suspension on the front, which takes care of all kinds of road irregularities. The XL version of Teana features 16â€• alloy wheels, while XV has 17â€• alloy wheels.

The interiors and exteriors

Teana has been designed truly stylishly to make it a luxurious sedan. On the exteriors, you can find notable features like turn indicators on door mirrors, halogen headlamps and electrical adjustable door mirrors. In the interiors, Teana has been designed with nothing short of five star luxury materials. The leather steering wheel is common in all variants, while higher variants have LED indirect Illumination of centre console. The air conditioning system is worth commending with features like rear A/C vents, and plasma-cluster air conditioner. Check the dashboard of Teana, which is highly classy and sophisticated. The 6CD changer music system discerningly fits into the dashboard. The seat materials are designed with leather. There is electrical adjustment available for the front passenger. The twin sunroof of the car offers a panoramic view to the rear occupants, who can control sunshade preferences on their own. On the security factor, Teana scores mammoth with dual front air bags, curtain airbags, side airbags and ABS and EBD.

Why buy Teana?

If you are in the quest to find a car that offers unparalleled luxury, this is one to opt for. The interiors deserve individual mention with excellent rear seat comfort and extremely eye-catchy styling. The XV variant offers a variety of added features, which makes it quite an investment. Also, not to forget, the award winning engine that is certainly one of the best available.

Why you can avoid?

Nissan has absurdly overpriced the model, making it terribly expensive for those who can afford a Skoda Superb for a much lesser price. This is especially in reference to the XL version which is decidedly much under equipped. Nissan hasnâ€™t promoted the model with effectiveness, which gives a clear hint of doubt. The sound quality of the audio system is not as first rate as expected.

Overlooking the flips, Nissan Teana is undeniably stylish and a head turner on the road.
