Article Side

Impressive Used Car Choices for Your First Date by Demaggio

Article published on March 6th 2012 | Auto

Nothingâ€™s quite as exciting as buying a car and then showing it off on a first date. The first dateâ€”even the ones that followâ€”can be a little disconcerting. You would naturally want to put your best foot forward and impress your date, although you may sometimes be at a loss on how best to achieve this. But when buying a car, consider its overall reliability and long-term uses aside from its ability to impress.

You can never go wrong with a sedan, whether new or used. Those manufactured from the last five to ten years can work as well any new sedan model. Nevertheless, be prepared to find little flaws that come with age. Yet whatever model you opt for, the most important thing is that its overall performance can prove reliable.

Some women prefer men who can afford expensive things, but they appreciate men who know how to handle their expenses wisely even more. Donâ€™t be ashamed of getting a car that costs $15,000 or less. Women can also occasionally fall for a risk taker, but most women tend to stay with a prudent man. So go ahead and test-drive a three-year-old hatchback. The capsule-like appearance of hatchback models can give people the impression of being fast yet sturdy; hatchbacks usually are, and they can carry about as much as any sedan.

A lot of people might be wary of buying a coupÃ© or convertible because these vehicles tend to be on the expensive side. Well, you're in luck: you can easily find sleek and beautiful coupÃ©s worth less than $15,000 at used car dealerships in Indianapolis. That is nearly half the cost of a lot of brand new coupÃ©s. These used coupÃ©s can be anywhere between three and ten years old, a reasonable age for an equitable coupÃ© that can fit only you and your date.

You might be surprised to know that there are also convertibles worth less than $10,000 available at used car dealerships in Indianapolis. Some convertibles worth around $20,000 which is already quite a steal as prices can go as high as $36,000 for a new convertible. The best part is that a convertible gets better with age and is easy on the eyes, something which is useful particularly if you want to impress your date.

A pickup truck is an unconventional vehicle to bring on a first date, but it is useful if you intend to go stargazing and plan to have a picnic off the beaten track. For a romantic evening, go stargazing together on the truck bed. For your first date, choose Indianapolis used cars that are sleek, good as new, and cool and masculine.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/auto-articles/impressive-used-car-choices-for-your-first-date.htm - Article Side

Demaggio - About Author:
For more details, search a car dealerships in Indianapolis,a used car dealerships in Indianapolis and a Indianapolis used cars in Google for related information.

Article Keywords:
car dealerships in indianapolis, indianapolis used cars, used car dealerships in Indianapolis

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!