New Delhi is capital of India due to which it attracts a lots of hustle bustle from every corner of country and world. People of every religion, caste, color and class come here to see this capital city or to search for a living. With the history as old as many centuries and monuments recollecting those time, Delhi is a constant center of attraction. This is the reason Delhi seems to be crowded by temporary settlements like hotels no matter what size they are. Hotels in Delhi are to suit every class and stature. Hospitality never lags at this place. One can book Delhi hotel before or after his or her arrival to the place. That could be Hyatt, Taj or Oberoi or just any to meet requirement of somebody who is thoughtful of his pocket.

Delhi has been now known to be carrying two time zones in itself. One (Old Delhi) is lazy with old home structures with no hint of new crossover roads and the other (New Delhi) is marked by presence of metro connecting at every 3 to 4 kilometers, crossover roads and newer style of homes that are made recently. So, after coming to Delhi one is faced with a question as to where to get his temporary settlement not just in terms of Hotels in Delhi but also as which part of the city.

By the way, New Delhi is supposed to be attracting more visiting crowd if one is not much into History. New Delhi Hotels thus become the hosts more commonly. All the grand openings, parties, conferences, etc are organized here. Delhi Hotels are the hides out to people who have come to get a taste of life of real city. The clothes, the food and the traditional spicy life of Indians can only be seen here. This includes places like Chandani Chowk that has come to represent India in one nook.

People who have come to study here rule out the option of Hotels in Delhi. They take PGs, Hostels, rooms or apartment after spending few days here and there. People who have come to promote their productions like movies, albums or take part in grand openings or inaugural sessions of certain events seek Luxurious stay. The 3 stars and 5 Star hotels are meant for personalities like Actors and actresses, singers, dance troops, sports persons etc.

Booking New Delhi Hotels is not a difficult task, as it has to accommodate people all the year round and not just in a particular season but it is always great to deal with the situation before hand by making an advance booking in Hotels in Delhi to get the things done smoothly.
