Mini Cooper your Access to Fun and Thrill Unlimited by Jeorge Benson

If you are looking for some serious fun and that to in an unlimited version then these are the cars that are available in a unique version and they come with a lot of spunk in the price tag and they are available easily anywhere in the range between @20,000 to $25,000 and there are some great characteristics too.

I should say that I have owned a Mini cooper and it was in the turbo version which was automatic and the car would get about 30 miles for the gallon and that would have a lead foot that is slammed on the floor. Precisely I would just say that I love the car and itâ€™s just amazing. One of the small reasons out of many for me to love the car is that is a cooper version and it is very different as compared to other heavyweight versions you see on the road on a daily basis. It has a great performance rate and it just canâ€™t be ignored on the road.

If I would be given an option to buy it then it would certainly buy mini cooper, used mini or the mini parts again but there are some odd things that occur with the car so if you are planning to buy one then you might as well keep a few things in mind before buying it. The first thing that needs to be considered is the dealership and it usually has a limited release and you can see them being driven all over the streets so the dealers should be authentic. Usually there is just one dealer in the city and that would suggest you a situation to put you on the mercy of that one dealer, when you urgently require a dealer.

If you look at the feedback that the car provides you then it gives one enough information that would easily fill a small phonebook of yours. So there is no discerning factor that would let you decide that how hot the car would run and it can get a bit strange if you have to find out that you would have to drive around with no water temperature gauge.

If you check the turbo version then even that has a small quirk and that is that it has a separate cooling system and if one is used to the turbo then the cooling system will come and would tell you to stop the car by giving you certain instructions. So whether you are buying a mini cooper, used mini or the mini parts you should consider all these things and then just go about it.
