Article Side

Scrutinizing the 2012 Subaru Forester and Impreza

by Sebastian Gaydos

Article published on March 5th 2012 | Auto

Subaru is one of the most popular car brands worldwide. As the automobile manufacturing division of the Japanese transportation conglomerate Fuji Heavy Industries, Subaru has designed and produced dozens of vehicle models since 1954. Today, Subaru boasts a wide array of vehicle types that suit peopleâ€™s different transport needs. Here are two of the 2012 models you can purchase at your local dealership.

2012 Subaru Forester

This compact SUV balances performance, versatility, and style with its obstacle-ready suspension, symmetrical all-wheel-drive system, and an efficient Subaru engine. The 2012 Forester features a panoramic sunroof, power-adjustable door mirrors, and multi-reflector halogen fog lights for convenience and safety. Its interiors boast a ten-way power-adjustable driver seat, leather-wrapped tilt and telescopic steering wheel, and a state-of-the-art multimedia system with entertainment, communication, and navigation functions.

In terms of safety, the 2012 Subaru Forester equips drivers the right tools to avoid road danger. Its advanced ring-shaped reinforcement frame and vehicle dynamics control and ABS braking systems deliver optimum safety with a host of strategically-located airbags. The Forester's top-of-the-line engines also deliver cost-effective fuel economy for both city and highway driving.

2012 Subaru Impreza

The fourth generation compact 2012 Subaru Impreza Edmonton dealers sell offers maximum comfort and convenience for its passengers. It showcases a 4.3 inch color multi-function display, Bluetooth hands-free calling, and sport gauges with red needs and white backlighting. Its spacious cargo area has a retractable cover for your various travel needs. This head-turner also has available power-sliding sunroof for your extra comfort and fun during countryside trips.

In terms of drivability and engine performance, the 2012 Impreza's engineering delivers reliability for different driving conditions. Its brand new 2.0-liter naturally-aspirated four-cylinder engine allows smooth, effortless, and efficient driving. A recommended Subaru Impreza Edmonton dealerships offer may also feature a Continuously Variable Transmission (CVT), a five-speed manual transmission, and a Dual Active Valve Control System. The vehicle's strut-type front and double wishbone rear suspensions deliver a safe ride with sporty, reliable handling.

The 2012 Subaru Forester Edmonton locals approve of may come with 2.5X Convenience, Touring, or Limited Packages. On the other hand, the 2012 Impreza may have Touring, Sport, and Limited packages with four- or five-door options. Prices for these models vary depending on specifications and extra accessories.

To learn more about the 2012 Subaru Forester, Impreza, and other models, you can visit subaru.com or subaru.ca and read about these advanced vehicles' reviews. You can also drop by Subaru Forester Edmonton dealerships if you want to own one these latest automobiles.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/auto-articles/scrutinizing-the-2012-subaru-forester-and-impreza.htm - Article Side

Sebastian Gaydos - About Author:
For more details, search a Subaru Impreza Edmonton and a Subaru Forester Edmonton in Google for related information.

Article Keywords:
subaru forester edmonton, subaru impreza edmonton

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!