Article Side
Boat Navigation Lights to Guide the Sailors by Julia Roger

Article published on August 9th 2012 | Business

With the increase in ocean traffic, the rules about the usage of boat navigation lights have also increased. The first rule insisting light in boats came in the year 1838 when the United States insisted on using signal lights during dark hours. A few years later, the United Kingdom stipulated that the steam vessels should have red and green signals and also white masthead lights.

With time, the requirement of the boat navigation lights also increased for the safety purpose and also more and more laws which were common to all nations were made to regulate sea traffic and make the traveling safe. The lights play an important role in making the sea journey safe and avoiding the collision between any two vessels. The lighting system used in the vessels has an international standard. With the help of these lights the type of the vessel, the angle of the vessel can be estimated. This helps in adjusting the paths of the vessels and avoiding collision among the vessels during night times. Considering the vastness of the ocean, one can estimate how important these lights are for the safe travel over the sea.

The boat navigation lights are the only indications that give information about the other vessels traveling in the vicinity. The arrangement and color of lights are used in different combination to provide most of the information about the vessels. It is not mandatory for the boats which fall under the category of â€˜smallâ€™ need not carry navigation lights, but may use hand held torch lights. The anchored vessels have a different set of lights. Any person who wants to take up jobs in ocean traveling will be given a thorough knowledge about these lights and their meanings.

Lights are the only way by which one can get the information on the other vessels traveling nearby. Navigation lights, boat trailer lights play an important role in the safety of the vessels.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/boat-navigation-lights-to-guide-the-sailors.htm - Article Side

Julia Roger - About Author:
For more information on a boat navigation lights, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a boat trailer lights!

Article Keywords:
boat navigation lights, boat trailer lights

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!