Article published on July 11th 2012 | Business

The legionella bacteria can cause all sorts of issues for those who run offices or other business premises, as it can easily be passed on through the improper use of air conditioning units or issues with less than hygienic water systems, but there are solutions which can ensure that legionella is kept out of water and air and that staff remain safe and healthy.

To ensure the proper protection against legionella office managers or other business owners need to make sure that they call on experts with a wealth of experience in dealing with legionella, as well as the skills to tackle legionella issues in all different kinds of premises.

If you want to ensure that your premises is protected against the potentially fatal legionella bacteria and its related conditions, visit us here at Amphibia. We specialise in legionella detection and treatment in air and water systems, and we can help any client to ensure that their systems are in keeping with official guidelines and are not going to put their staff at risk.

We have more than 20 years of experience in providing legionella advice and help to a wide range of businesses, in a variety of sectors, and we can assist you with any legionella need, whether you need to check the condition of your air conditioning unit or you need to deal with an outbreak of legionella within your water system.

Many of our customers come to us for legionella risk assessment, and this involves us making a comprehensive assessment of a workplace and ensuring that everything is in keeping with the relevant legislation from the health and safety commission.

The purpose of these legionella assessments is to identify any potential areas of risk and to put together a written scheme for preventing the risk from occurring or controlling it if it becomes a problem. As well as this, these legionella tests are designed to put the right person in place to be in charge of any legionella issues, should they occur.

If you need protection against Legionella risk assessments in your workplace visit us here at Amphibia and find out about the wide range of legionella services we offer.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/do-you-need-to-protect-against-legionella.htm - Article Side

Mary Porter - About Author:
a Legionella is a deadly disease but at amphibia.co.uk we can provide a Legionella risk assessments to help you to avoid any hygiene and health issues on your premises. Visit us today for more information!

Article Keywords:
Legionella, Legionella risk assessments

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!