Esources scam news is not new. It has been doing the rounds in a few online review blogs and portals for some time now. Some elements are unable to digest the unprecedented success that the portal enjoys among the online trading community in the UK and are trying their hardest to tarnish its reputation by unscrupulous means. Unfortunately for them, the attempts have crash-landed every single time.

Despite the esources scam rumors, the portal has emerged as the preferred destination of trade buyers and suppliers for its superior trading features and innovative trading tools it offers. To begin with, members can use either the free membership or the premium membership to carry out their trading activities. Esources attracts thousands of registrations every month from retailers and suppliers, making it the fastest-growing UK trade directory.

â€¢ Esources Offers Great Scope for International Suppliers Too

If you have your business based outside the UK but you have your clients in the UK, you can choose the international suppliers subscription option to manage your business smoothly. Esources is the perfect trading platform for wholesalers, dropshippers, importers, exporters, distributors, and manufacturers to transact business safely and without the risk of getting conned by fake suppliers and middlemen.

It is heartening to note that esources scam reports have not affected the enthusiasm and the confidence of the large database of suppliers and resellers simply because they know the inside story. There is nothing at all to suggest that there is a scam going on here. On the contrary, esources is trusted implicitly by the UK online trading community for its exemplary services and commitment to helping its members find the best business opportunities online.

â€¢ Valuable Resources to Enhance the Trading Experience

There are many valuable resources available for members such as access to hundreds of auction houses and information about the latest clearance auctions in the UK. You can get accurate and timely information and updates about upcoming UK trade fairs and exhibitions, read trade-related articles, and improve your knowledge about various areas of e-commerce business and online retailing. It serves as an effective tool to improve your sales skills. How do you then explain the esources scams rumor?

The market research wizard available on the site with the premium subscription is a great way to research the selling potential of any product and decide on the product mix you wish to sell online for greater profits. UK wholesalers and dropshippers prefer using esources for finding buyers for their merchandise quickly and effortlessly. They donâ€™t have to chase customers anymore. Esources gives them access to a ready list of buyers looking for the types of products that they have on inventory.

Premium supplier membership starts from Â£12.50 per month and gives access to a variety of invaluable trading features. One of the most important features is Trade Pass authentication. This helps them attract resellers in large numbers and gives them a greater scope to improve business prospects substantially. It is amply clear from the response of resellers and suppliers to the portal that esources scam news is nothing but rumors.
