Are you looking for first aid training?

If you are an organisation which wants to ensure that you protect all of your staff then first aid training is essential. Not only will you be confident that you are providing your staff with the requisite help should be unfortunate enough to fall ill or have an accident whilst at work, but there is certain first aid training which is a legal requirement and if you, as an organization, do not comply with this then you will leave yourself wide open to prosecution by your employees as well as litigation.

What should a first training course involve?

There are various first aid training courses available to organisations. If you have a first aid appointed person on your premises then they will need more intensive training as they will be the first port of call during any illness or accident. However, there is less intensive first aid training available for other personnel which will ensure that more people on your premises know which actions to take in the event of an accident. Indeed, the more people on your premises who know how to administer first aid, the better to ensure that your workforce is fully protected at all times.
