Printed stickers are used by many companies nowadays to present themselves in a market. They can be used for various purposes such as supporting an issue, promoting a product, fundraising or circulating any kind of message. The trend of car bumper stickers is increasing at a fast pace.

The most amazing thing about these stickers is that they are not specific for one single function. They can serve a lot of purposes. The custom stickers can be used to promote or oppose a particular philosophical or political position. They also become popular in the days of election as they are used to show support for a particular candidate. Other than that, they are also used for marketing, criticism, demonstration, entertainment, humor, emotions and fundraising.

There are many shapes and sizes of the printed stickers. Customized stickers can also be made. There are custom made stickers as well. The customized stickers are labels or stickers which are attached to the bumpers of automobiles. They usually have messages or images in some cases, printed on them so that they could be read by the occupants of other vehicles and by the pedestrians. PVC is the material usually used to make these stickers. The most frequently used size of these stickers is 12inch by 3inch.

Usually CMYK printing process is used to print these bumper stickers. This printing process ensures the quality of the product. You can also use vinyl sticker paper. This process is also considered to be the most effective and economical for advertising tools. Some printing companies also offer PMS (Pantone Matching System) Printing Process. There are also different quality control checks to ensure the optimum quality of the bumper stickers being produced at the printing companies. In the business world, it is said these stickers are â€œmoving billboards.â€•

This is why companies have started producing motorcycle stickers as well. They cover a large audience and are considered to be very effective promotional tool. The motorcycle stickers are usually made from Vinyl material. The custom stickers printing is long lasting, do not loose freshness when washed and can easily be removes. Initially the purpose of these bumper stickers was to express an individualâ€™s view about a specific topic or person but later it started getting used for promotion of products.

Therefore it can be concluded that bumper stickers can be very helpful and effective in the promotion of a product. It is very necessary that the bumper sticker printing is given proper attention to. The vinyl sticker printing is also done. The stickers need to be unique, attractive and appealing so that they gain the attention of maximum number of people. This is why bright colours and funny pictures are used on these stickers. Thus printing and designing play a vital role.
