The following internet business ideas are for those who have a great knowledge about Information Technology. It's a sure conclusion that those taking up IT, Software Engineering, Programming and the likes now in college can make a career now with the Internet.

Make smartphone applications and sell it online.

The Apple and Android phones sell themselves in the market. If you know how to make applications for them, you have a chance of making it big. Gone are the days when Big Fish and Yahoo dominate the quick gaming industry. You always had that liberty of creating a game. But with today's technology, it is much more easier to make it and sell it. Who knows you might make it to Apple's Top 25 purchases? You can sell your game from $0.99 up to $3.99 and still be affordable.

Make social networking applications

Have you heard that the creator of Farm Ville is now enjoying a luxurious lifestyle? Emulate his lifestyle design. Base your application on social networking sites like Facebook and Friendster. Make sure it's and interesting game so that you can urge your first users to share it with their friends. You can earn through advertisements or through in-game purchases.

Offer website designing service

You must know your way through HTML if you want to become a web designer. Web designers earn a whooping amount of cash especially for big clients. The average range is about $100-$200 per page. So if you are planning to propose a 10 page website for your client, that's a big $1000 basic income.

Online flash creator

There are some web designers that want to have a flash component on their sites. You can offer them your expertise if you know how to use Adobe Flash. The Flash is an interesting component on websites because it makes it more interactive and dynamic.

Online video editor

There are job postings on the Internet looking for an Online Video Editor. You can use video editing software like Adobe Premier Pro or Final Cut Pro for a professional look and feel.

Online graphic artist

Just like video editing, but easier. All you need is a powerful Photo editing software like Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Illustrator. You can do so much if you know how to edit. You can create logos for new companies. You can also create invitations, greeting cards, and many more. Let your imagination go.

There are actually a dozen more Online Business Ideas if you just take a moment and figure out what is right for you. Don't stop at one though, you can be a website designer while at the same time becoming an online video editor. OR become a video editor and a graphic artist.
