A lot of preparation goes into making your wedding day grand and memorable. Actually, the planning starts months in advance, right from the time you decide to exchange vows. Everything, right from making guest lists to deciding the wedding theme to designing and buying a trousseau, has to be done meticulously so that things turn out exactly as planned and your special day leaves wonderful and sweet memories in the hearts of your guests. To ensure that all your guests are available to share your joys, it is important that you send them interesting save-the-date shape magnets well in advance.

Save-the-date magnets help you notify your loved ones that you are planning to take the plunge soon. And as save-the-date cards easily stick to a fridge, they keep on reminding your guests about your special day so that they can take some time out and be a part of your joyous occasion. It is not essential to send save-the-date cards to all your guests. If you want to cut costs, you could send them only to guests who will be traveling to be a part of your special day. However, make sure that you send the save-the-date shape magnets at least four months in advance to allow your guest to make the necessary arrangements in time.

Save-the-date shape magnets come in various forms and styles. Though every vendor has some predesigned samples for you to choose from, if you have an interesting idea in mind, you could go for customizable shape or calendar magnets. Most couples prefer having their happy picture on the save-the-date card along with the date and venue of the wedding. Adding a personalized message makes such wedding announcement cards complete. If you have planned a destination wedding, like if you are thinking of exchanging vows on a Hawaiian Island, you could include some pictures of the destination in your save-the-date card.

There are many suppliers that sell ready-made and custom-shape magnets, but if you want to save on costs and access greater variety, online stores are the best. You should compare some online shops to select the best one for you. And, as suppliers have certain lead times for delivering custom shape magnets, you should approach them well in advance so that you can get your save-the-date magnets on time.
