The Best Certified Used Cars in Edmonton Dealerships under $15,000 by Ellsworth Mciltrot

Article published on May 14th 2012 | Business

If you are thinking of giving up on your old rickety car, then you may want to consider going to a used car dealership. There are several dealerships in Edmonton, Alberta so it really is just a matter of reading reviews and asking from friends to find out which is the most reliable. While a brand new car will always be different in terms of look and comfort, pre-owned vehicles also have their good points and benefits.

By purchasing a used car, an Edmonton buyer can get more from his money because the biggest depreciation hit was already taken by the previous owner. Used cars are much cheaper and if you would like to ensure quality you could go for a certified pre-owned vehicle. However, an independent mechanic can also inspect your chosen vehicle for its over-all engine and body condition. The key in getting the cheapest and most reliable vehicle is to narrow it down to the most reliable brands and to set a budget. If your budget is below $15,000, then you might want to consider the following vehicles.

2006 Chevrolet Equinox

Internet Price: $12,000

The 2006 Chevrolet is a four-door SUV Edmonton car buyers can consider because of its powerful 3.4 Liter V-6 cylinder engine. The interiors are spacious for a small SUV, and it is also elegantly designed. The Equinox also comes with adjustable seats and side curtain airbags. If safety is your concern, be assured that the Equinox received good test scores

2009 Hyundai Accent

Internet Price: $10,000

The 2009 Hyundai Accent is available in some dealerships in Edmonton. Buyers will like this four-door sedan because it has garnered a number of notices from car experts. Edmunds.com stated that the 2009 Accent has supportive seats, refined highway ride, roomy interior and unusually satisfying stereo. It comes with a 1.6 Liter I-4 cylinder engine and automatic transmission.

2007 Ford Freestar

Internet Price:

Buyers who are looking for a reliable minivan might want to consider the 2007 Ford Freestar because of its excellent safety feature. It matters that this four-door van has a 4.2 Liter V-6 cylinder engine and an automatic transmission. The 2007 Ford Freestar is available in car dealerships Edmonton residents trust.

Many people have benefitted from purchasing used cars from Edmonton dealerships. If you would like to find out more pre-owned vehicles under the $15,000 price range, you can contact the nearest dealership in your area.
