Article published on July 13th 2012 | Computer

If you need to replace ink cartridges or toner cartridges for your printer, you can either opt for refilled or brand new ink cartridges. Ink cartridges refills enables you to refill your printer for cheaper when it runs out of ink saving money in the long run in comparison to purchasing brand new ink cartridges. Refill ink cartridges is also environmentally friendly as there is more effort in manufacturing brand new ink cartridges than refilling empty ink cartridges. Or if you prefer the convenience of brand new ink cartridges then there are plenty of affordable options for personal or business use. When buying ink cartridges you don't always have to opt for ink cartridges that are made by the same manufacturer as your printer.

Compatible non branded ink cartridges are available as a cheaper alternative to the original branded ink cartridges or toner cartridges. The main factor is to ensure the ink cartridges are compatible and made for your printer model. The printer model and serial number should be easily visible which should make finding and choosing your ink cartridges online or in-store a fairly straightforward process. You should be able to filter on suitable and compatible ink cartridges on stockist and retailer websites, allowing you to concentrate on picking out the right colour for the right price. If you are planning on purchasing multiple ink cartridges, some retailers may offer discounts when purchasing more than one ink cartridges.

Ink cartridges will need to be replaced once any one of the ink cartridges run empty. The ink cartridges deposit ink directly onto the paper during printing and require sufficient ink cartridges levels in black ink and three primary colours. Although the cost of inkjet printers are fairly low, the ink cartridges can be a costly expense therefore many printer users may opt to choose refill ink cartridges or compatible ink cartridges if you can't find any great deals on original ink cartridges for your specific printer.
