

Article Side

Desktop Wallpaper - a Way to Personalize Your Computer by Julia Bennet

Article published on July 27th 2012 | Computer

Desktop wallpaper is also known as a desktop background, or an HD wallpaper. This is a piece of art that you display as background on your PC's monitor. When we speak of wallpapers, there are usually three groups of users. Some are content and happy with the default screen background that come with your purchase of a desktop or a laptop computer. Others who are fond of taking photos of themselves, their families and other things add these photos to their desktop backgrounds. Another group likes to select and download images from different websites for their own use.

It is this last group of computer users who love to personalize their laptops or desktops. There are several ways of personalizing your computer. The unit is considered an extension of your self and your creativity. You can have the fanciest wallpaper, or the simplest one without many embellishments. But if you want to make a difference between the unit that you own and the one that is displayed on the store, then the best choice is to use HD wallpapers.

Both the desktop wall picture and the outside touches of your computer are essential elements of customizing your unit. They are frequently seen by yourself and the others look at them appreciatively. Select an image design that is nice to look at, rather than the noisy or very garnish one that can further the strain that you might be having. Thousands of websites are on the Internet offering HD wallpapers. It is suggested that you visit several sites before picking your desired wallpaper.

You can have many different types of HD wallpapers to choose from; you may select the cartoon, funny, classic, inspiring, movie, and many more. When choosing your desktop background, you should consider everything that you like and dislike. These are the reflections of your personality. And they can instantly change your mood; calm you down with a soft tone design, charge you up with brighter colors, and inspire you to do your best with a motivational design. And the good thing about these backgrounds is that you can easily change it with just a click of your mouse.

Choosing the best wallpaper for your desktop involves going around the Internet and visiting sites that deal with these images for free download. When you do your online search, it will be great help to narrow down the choices. Display only images that suit the size of your screen, although there are images that can be found in multiple sizes, meaning that they are compatible with both the wide screen and the traditional monitors. Your best choice should be the HD wallpaper that most appeals to you and should not distract when other people share the use of your computer.

Wanting to further spice up your desktop? Use celebrity wallpapers as your computer screen's background. You can choose from different celebrities like actors/actresses, models, players, government leaders, writers, scientists, and others. Most of them maintain their own sites and you can download your desktop background from these websites.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/computer-articles/desktop-wallpaper-a-way-to-personalize-your-computer.htm> - Article Side

Julia Bennet - About Author:

a HD wallpapers are used on desktops and it is good to have a wallpaper on your desktop.

Article Keywords:
HD wallpapers, wallpaper

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!