Adventurous Himalaya Trekking Tours

by Nikita Martin

Article published on April 12th 2012 | Destinations

Himalayas is situated in the northern part of India. It looks like a crown to India. The highest peak in the world, Mount Everest is situated in this Himalayan ranges. There are snow covered peaks, dense forest, beautiful lakes, ever flowing rivers which give an extra touch to the natures beauty. These mountain ranges are famous for their trekking activity.

There are many religious places nearby the Himalayan ranges for the visitors to visit. The natureâ€™s beauty and the spiritual places will add much importance to the visit. The forest has many rare species. The local culture and tradition is also worth watching.

The Himalayas is the house for trekking .The adventure lovers will surely visit this place to have their part of thrill. Other than trekking, mountain climbing and also river rafting are the sports activities present in the Himalayas. The experience cannot be explained in words, so it is better to go and enjoy the trip personally. Sikkim is one of the places where the trekking activity is more. The travelers enjoy the nature very much and there are many trekking routes here. The flora, fauna and the nature is worth experiencing.Ladakh is also famous for the trekking destinations.

In Ladakh there are many trekking tracks and also the landscape is unexplainable and unimaginable. The nature beauty can be experienced only by visiting that place. There are many packages offered for the visit to Ladakh and the tourists can get them in cheaper rates. Trekking is the best way to explore the terrain of Himalayas. The experience is mesmerizing. All over the world the people come here for trekking. They find the routes through Himalayas thrilling. The people will find Himalayas interesting due to the nature there. The people who are trekking will surely enjoy the beauty of nature.

Himalayas has many high peaks and ha snow topped mountains. The adventurous people who come trekking here will find this place very thrilling. Exploring Himalayas through trekking is a great experience which cannot be explained by words. The local peopleâ€™s tradition and culture is also known to the world. There are many valleys, glaciers, temples and monasteries to be seen. The lakes are translucent and give a different experience than the other rivers. The rivers are snow fed and flow through out the year. There are many hill stations near Himalayas and it can be explored through trekking. There are a lot of tea plantations and also lofty mountains in Himachal Pradesh for enjoying the natureâ€™s gift.

There are different treks in the valley like the easy trek, moderate trek and the tough trek. The foot hills of Himalayas are very ideal for trekking. The mountains are evergreen and are dense. There are different varieties of flora and fauna to be enjoyed. There are more varieties of bird species in the forest. The roads here form a web and it is quite difficult to explore. But he adventure loving people will really find these places very interesting. There are numerous trekking routes to be explored for the trekkers.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/destinations-articles/adventurous-himalaya-trekking-tours.htm - Article Side

Nikita Martin - About Author:
To get more information about a LadakhTours, a India Tour Operators and a Himalaya Tours , Visit-ercotravels.com

Article Keywords:
Himalaya Tours, Ladakh Tours, Trekking in Ladakh

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!