Article published on April 6th 2012 | Destinations

Thailand is a perfect blend of rich tradition, modernity and enthralling natural beauty. It has been enticing millions of tourists for years and has become the most sought after tourist destination. Although Thailand has famous Buddhist temples, rich architecture and massive shopping malls, it is however, the tranquil and splendid beaches that has been the major attraction for millions of tourists. A package for Thailand cannot be planned without making a tour to these exotic beaches. There are many places that are famous for beautiful beaches like Phuket, Pattaya, Krabi, Hua Hin and Koh Samui. However the most popular of them all is Pattaya. A package for Thailand is incomplete without planning a travel to Pattaya.

Pattaya, situated on the east coast of the Gulf of Thailand, was initially a fishing village but due to the breathtaking scenic beauty of the beaches, it got highlighted and is presently one of the most desired beach destinations in the world alluring huge number of tourists every year. With an amazing and vibrant night life, this city is always full of energy. It offers some of the best water sport activities that are a great attraction for people seeking for nerve-wracking adventures. However there are some beaches that are away from the vivacious city life and allow you to relax and rejuvenate in the peaceful ambience of these beaches. A tour Pattaya can be easily incorporated in a package for Thailand which will enable you to experience the contrasting features of the beaches.

The 4 km long, crescent-shaped Pattaya beach is divided into three beaches namely, the North Pattaya or Pattaya Neu, the Central Pattaya or Pattaya Klang and the South Pattaya or Pattaya Tai. These awesome beaches fringed with majestic pine trees provide a spectacularly picturesque view. A travel to Pattaya will enable you to capture this amazing scenery. Among the three beaches, Central Pattaya is the most crowded beach as a lot of sporting activities like jet skiing, paragliding and banana boat rides are carried on here. The North and South Pattaya beaches are relatively less crowded and are perfect to hang around leisurely and relax. With crystal clear blue water, these beaches with gradual slope are ideal for swimming. With a planned tour Pattaya, you can properly manage your time so that you get to visit all the prominent beaches.

Some of the other adjoining beaches are Jomtein beach and Bangsaen beach. These beaches are more peaceful, however many water sports like snorkeling, wind surfing, parasailing and jet skiing are also done here. Apart from these glamorous white sandy beaches, Pattaya also offers one of the most exuberant nightlife. It has the largest sea-facing shopping mall called the Central Festival Pattaya Beach Mall which is a great attraction for tourists.

The Crocodile Farm and the Sriracha Tiger Zoo can also be visited during your tour Pattaya. Pattaya is undeniably the perfect holiday destination as it allows you to have a break from the hectic life and on the other hand offers you with action packed sporting events and bristling night life. A travel to Pattaya can never be complete without trying out authentic lip smacking Thai delicacies.
