The best in luxury stay by Roger Nash

Article published on December 21st 2011 | Destinations

If you are on a luxury-based holiday in Puerto Rico, there are several mega-hotels that you can think of. Even if you are there for the short haul, a night or two at one of these places will definitely add to your list of memories. You will find a huge range, from quiet cottages to the loud, party-all-night kind of hotels. Making your choice will depend on your interests and what you want to get out of this holiday.

Among the best resorts in Puerto Rico is the Gran Melia Golf Resort. This golf-based resort features two 18-hole golf courses. They are also a part of theÂ Trump International Golf Club. They also host the Puerto Rico Open each year. This resort has all of 486 suites and is the perfect place for those who like to stay in luxury while spending their days on the greens. Housing two courses means that the resort is spread over a massive landscape. This gives the visitor a sense of privacy and security. In fact it is also situated around three miles from the first town. The rooms are really spacious and it has seven restaurants to suit your culinary tastes as well as a simple swim-up poolside bar.

If pampering yourself on a vacation is what you are looking for then the W Retreat and Spa would be the best getaway for you. This is situated in Vieques, which is one of Puerto Rico's outlying islands. Located discreetly away from the hustle and bustle of the city, this is the perfect place to head to calm down those nerves. You will find that the beaches here are not lit at night. This is an environmental gesture to the native sea-turtle populations. At nights you will also hear the sound of coqui frogs filling the air. Of the amenities to look forward to are the spa, tennis courts, a fitness center as well as the resort's popular "Whatever/Whenever" service. The idea here is to give the guest exactly what he wants at the time he demands. The place is also pet friendly.

Another great stopover can be done at the Wyndham Rio Mar. This is a resort for the family and is conveniently located close to San Juan. It is quite huge with 600 rooms in total and enough restaurants to keep you satisfied. Since it is close to the Atlantic Ocean, you have enough activities to keep a group of people busy. It is a bit quiet as it is placed away from the city center. However there are a number of shuttles that will take you there and back without too much of a hassle.
