Revision course venues for Exam Confidence by Richard Riddell

Article published on December 9th 2011 | Education

Exam Confidence a leading provider of intensive exam revision courses is delighted to offer two outstanding venues for their Christmas revision courses.

Revision courses near London

If you are looking for revision courses near London or in London, we have Albion College as our base. From here, we also offer courses for those looking for revision courses near Oxford or for revision courses near Cambridge. Albion College is situated in the heart of London in the famous Bloomsbury Square. It occupies an elegant two hundred year old building with bright, spacious and modern classrooms. With excellent study and IT facilities, it provides a perfect environment in which to advance your education. The closest Tube station is Holborn, which is a brief three minute walk.

Revision courses near Oxford

There are a number of good revision course providers who offer revision courses near Oxford or revision courses in Oxford. The reason we believe that we are better than our competition is because we combine the teaching of exam technique by chief or principal examiners with teaching by experienced and passionate teachers. Our senior examiners mean a bigger hole in our staffing budget, but a greater value added to your revision course. This is why we urge you to come to Albion College, even if you are looking for revision courses in Oxford â€“ likely closer to home. The short train ride will be worth every penny to hear the subject experts on exam technique teach you the difference between your current grade and your best grade possible.

Revision courses near Cambridge

For the same reasons outlined above, if you have recently searched for revision courses near Cambridge or Cambridge revision courses, please check in on our website before making your booking. You can find us at www.examconfidence.co.uk and if you have questions, we would be delighted to speak to you further. Cambridge revision courses are certainly available within the city, but do some investigation and ask their providers whether they will teach with chief or principal examiners. Ask them whether their courses have been structurally developed with a performance psychologist or if they work on a studentâ€™s revision technique and motivation as well as the content of the syllabus. No one covers exam technique in the same way as Exam Confidence â€“ because no one else employs chief or principal examiners to deliver every one of our subjects.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/education-articles/revision-course-venues-for-exam-confidence.htm - Article Side

Richard Riddell - About Author:
Examconfidence.com offers Exam Revision Courses in all subjects like, a revision courses in Oxford, revision courses near London, a Cambridge revision courses, revision courses near Oxford with guaranteed results with excellence. Enroll for your revision course today!

Article Keywords:

oxford revision courses, a level revision in oxford, revision courses in oxford, revision courses near oxford, revision courses near london, cambridge revision courses, cambridge revision course

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!