Who doesnâ€™t know the hen night? They are the most important part of a bride-to-beâ€™s life where she enjoys her final days of freedom and single hood. And just like any other special occasion, an extra special treatment is required to make sure that the bride remembers it forever. Many girls would like to make it happening by sharing a unique experience which includes aligning of some great line of activities that they have never done before, along with some great partying and dancing which they will certainly avoid doing it once they are married. For henâ€™s it carries the utmost importance as she is going to say goodbye to her last days of single hood and welcome to a whole new world of marital life.

Most likely, there would be no one blaming the girls if they get little carried away with the planning and organizing of a great hen night. After all, all girls would love to make it the most memorable event of the bright-to-be life. The henâ€™s friends take the responsibility of arranging the party and at the same time they ensure that the future bride gets the VIP treatment. Probably, making the arrangements for that special hen night party may cost a huge amount of money. But nonetheless, making the hen feel so glad that she remembers and captures the glorious moments forever in her life is priceless.

The foremost thing is to make sure to plan out the hen night party around the hen. Make sure to note down the things that she likes and what she doesnâ€™t likes. Remember the party is all around and for the bride-to-be. So just in case if you are planning to hire an expensive car such as limousine to move from one place to another than you are not going in a wrong direction. Hiring such a car will make the bride-to-be realize like she is the extra special person, a real VIP or a celebrity. Whatâ€™s more, with such a car youâ€™ll get some extra treat with sure champagne in crystal cute glasses.

You can head out for some great restaurant where all the girls and the hen can have a dinner together. You may even like to order the dish that you have never tasted before. Once the dinner is over and the delicious desserts are finished, you can all get back to the limousine and head for some expensive night club for the hen night bash. The night club will be the real fun starter. You can buy the VIP tickets for the night club in advance just to make sure that it comes easy on the pockets. These tickets not only ensures free entries in the club at the night when it is hard to get the access but it also allows you and your girls to have some free drinks too.

And just in case, if this special hen night is just not enough for you than you can all go together for a hen weekend to celebrate. But the most important thing that is recommended is that whether it is a hen night, hen party or hen weekend make sure to have it at least a week ahead from the wedding. This will allow the bride-to-be and all the girls to enjoy both the important events without getting exhausted.
