Article published on December 15th 2011 | Gambling

Gambling comes in many forms and just when you thought that betting on horse races had become out of fashion, there comes a new craze that many people consider just as fun. Indeed, betting on people who are involved in the auto racing sport has become just as popular, if not more popular, than individuals betting on their horse races. But is there any benefit actually from betting on the drivers of the cars in the auto racing industry? What is even more interesting is the fact that there are many similarities and differences that exists between the activity of betting on horse races and auto races. But you should see for yourself whether you are going to bet on someone involved in auto racing, and truly by luck the benefit just may fall on your way one day. At this moment I remember the bets I made for fun with my friends while watching live games on my Dish TV.

Let us see some of the most interesting similarities between the traditional and new age bets. Just as horse race betting was very popular before some ten to twenty years ago the betting habit has now turned into auto racing betting which is no where better than a normal Vegas gambling. The main similarity that auto racing bets have with those who bet on horse races is the fact that there is no simple way to know who is going to win the race. Just as horses are too unpredictable to bet on, so are humans who have auto-raced for a long time. The driver of the car may be having an "off" day, just as any horse can have as well. It is a fact that the auto race betting is similar to horse race betting but still there is a whole new market out for the new type. Indeed, there are many people who consider auto racing to be even more important than horse racing, and many people in the same circles that bet on horse racing are now betting on the drivers who engage in auto racing.

One of the best things about betting on auto racing, is humans are more predictable than horses since they understand their responsibility towards winning the race. Just think about the NASCAR situation: when someone comes in first place it is rare that the spot is ever moved. Unless the car and driver of auto racing change in some significant way, the same drivers of the racing industry continue to keep their important status over time. This whole situation makes betting on auto racing not just more predictable, but also easier to win. But consider the situation of auto racing bets when a bet is placed on a car and driver who has come in first place consistently for the past half of a year. Even though it is very likely that the person who has come in first place will do so again for many times over, it is also very likely that a new car and driver will easily beat out and win over the regular winner of the auto race.

In the end, is it really beneficial to bet on any of the auto racing, or is it beneficial to bet on any of the horse races? Even though there are people who do get those golden times in which they win a jackpot with the races that they bet on, more they are sorely disappointed when their auto racing driver had lost the race. For this reason, the odds of winning bets on auto racing, even though they seem likely, can actually be slim to none. Before you place any bets make sure that your state allows such activities and you are gambling only with surplus money you have in your pocket.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/gambling-articles/who-do-you-prefer-human-or-horses.htm - Article Side

Mark D - About Author:
Being a freelancer, Mark likes writing and blogging about the topics raised in his brains from an idea or experience. He loves watching informative, innovative and interesting shows on his a Dish TV.

Article Keywords:
betting,auto race betting,dish tv

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!