

Article published on December 9th 2011 | Home Improvement

Eternal and everlasting are terms that are synonymous to everything that is being sold or purchased these days in the market. Call it the penetration of commoditization, beauty products, home appliances, gadgets, and furniture are few industries where these two terms play an important role. While, it will not be appropriate to comment on the other industries, but we can say that the furniture industry, that we are quite knowledgeable of, is true when it uses the term long lasting. How? Take for example laminates.

Laminates are that essential part of furniture without which, the piece of art would be barren and soul less. And in the laminate industry, especially the high pressure laminates are an entity exuding the radiance of longevity in all its aspects. High pressure laminates are basically laminates that have high impact resistance and extreme abrasion resistant power. High pressure laminates are usually popular in furniture that bears the brunt of extreme pressures. That doesn't mean high pressure laminates are not used in and around our houses. In fact, if we look around we'll surely find furniture items around our house that do bear high pressure. Why are you confused? Have you never noticed your dining table or the kitchen countertop? The laminates used in these areas do bear the brunt of extreme pressure in the form of knife chops and heat from utensils.

Therefore, high pressure laminates are extremely suitable for usage on solid surface countertops. These solid surface countertops are generally the dining table top, the kitchen counter top or even the bathroom sink top. Using high pressure laminates for kitchen counter tops has advantages like abrasion resistance and anti water seepage that will keep your kitchen hygienic and neat.

If you use high pressure laminates on the solid surface countertop of your bathroom sink, you not just giving your bathroom an aesthetic upgrade but also using the advantage of anti water seepage by virtue of which your bathroom sink top will never have those ugly scars and blotches that are left by water retention in the wooden surface.

High pressure laminates are also recommended for your dining table top. Dining table top is also a type of solid surface countertop which is highly exposed to pressure from heat and heavy utensils. If you use high pressure laminates on your dining table top, the colour and the texture of your dining table laminate will last longer than ever and make your table appear beautiful and grand year after year.

So do you still need more reasons to switch to high pressure laminates for your solid surface countertops?

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/high-pressure-laminates-where-to-use-them.htm> - Article Side

Smith - About Author:

Greenlam offers the best a laminate countertops solutions in Asia. Greenlam laminates are of high aesthetic value, are sustainable, eco-friendly and immensely durable. It manufactures some of the best designer a solid surface countertops and a high pressure laminates that are widely used.

Article Keywords:

Solid surface countertops, High pressure laminates, laminate

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!