Memory Foam Mattress at One Click by Sean

Article published on December 8th 2011 | Home Improvement

If youâ€™re currently looking for memory foam mattresses buy one that youâ€™ve taken time and care ov choosing. Remember that it pays not to settle for second best because a mattress is one of the most important pieces of furniture in your home.

We each spend around a third of our lives asleep so it makes sense that we should make ourselves as comfortable as possible in that time. That means that when youâ€™re looking for memory foam mattresses buy one that you know you are completely happy with.

Memory foam has been with us for much longer than many people realise and it first emerged as part of NASAâ€™s US space programme in the mid 1960â€™s. Its commercial potential quickly became apparent and after the programme was scrapped, memory foam lived on and the first domestic mattresses began to appear around twenty years ago.

If youâ€™ve yet to try one of these mattresses you may be wondering what the fuss is all about so let us assure you that this is the most comfortable and luxurious material on the market today. Memory foam works because the upper layers of foam react to your body heat as soon as you lay down on the bed. In a very short space of time they become pliable and will mould around your own individual form.

The end result is a sleeping surface that is tailor made to your own shape while underneath that surface, the lower layers of foam stay completely solid, giving your body the total support that it needs through the night.

Itâ€™s this unique combination that has seen memory foam recommended by doctors and physiotherapists for many years. It is perfect for those suffering with back or related joint problems but even if you have the healthiest of backs, memory foam can actively prevent problems from occurring. Remember that it also gives you the best possible chance of achieving a great nightâ€™s sleep and thatâ€™s something we can all enjoy.

We firmly believe that we stock the biggest and best range on the market and with four great styles to choose from, we are confident that we wonâ€™t be beaten on price.
