

Article published on January 4th 2012 | Home Improvement

Are you dying to have a bathroom makeover but scared to have it done because of a limited budget? Well, then, you no longer have to worry about the makeover because there are reconstruction and remodeling plans that can actually work for people with limited allotted budget for it.

Contrary to common beliefs, reconstructing a bathroom does not usually equate with high expenses and huge amount of money to shell out. There are bathroom makeovers that can practically be as cheap as $300 only depending on the kind of remodeling or reconstructing that you want.

What can I do with a limited budget?

Actually, there are a lot of things that you can still do with your limited budget only when you exactly know your limitations and your boundaries. Doing a bathroom makeover does not really have to be very expensive because there are controlling factors that you can actually do.

Here are the things that you can do to make the bathroom makeover fun, economical, and a reality with your limited amount of money:

â€¢ You can start the plan by visualizing what you plan to have for your bathroom. The manner of visualizing the plan should be equated with proper costing and allotments. In this way, you visualize and then you get to know how much is being spent with rough estimation. With the visualization, you can actually do some themes and designs. This will make the makeover plan a little more exciting.

â€¢ You start doing the renovation from the floor. The most abused part of the bathroom is always the floor. If you have carpets on your floor, then it is likely that after a year or two, these are all worn out and devastated. You can start looking for a much cheaper way to replenish or even replace the bathroom carpets being used. You can use tiles instead of carpets. The tiles are more lasting and they can be cleaned without causing too much abrasions and damages.

â€¢ You go to the paint. The wall and the ceiling paints go bad as days pass by. They tend to be a little lousy in color as they become exposed to dust, humidity, and lights. What you can do is to basically have the walls and the ceilings repainted and all. This way, you get to clean and wipe them anew with the new paint colors that you want.

â€¢ You look at the accessories and fixtures. There are accessories that you can actually recycle and there are fixtures that can be remedied. If you think that you can still do some extension in the life of the fixtures and accessories, then you can at all time. This way, you can allot the limited money that you have with some other essential bathroom things.

With all these cost-saving mechanisms that you have it is pretty sure that you can have a bathroom makeover that is way beyond the expected high amount of money to shell out. What is clear in here is that you can do a makeover without having to be extravagant in spending. All you need to is to have smart plan and innovative mind.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/running-a-makeover-on-your-bathroom-with-limited-budget.htm> - Article Side

George Peterson - About Author:

Planning a bathroom renovation (interesting to know is that the Norwegian term is a Oppussing Baderom) is not an easy task at all. There are so many details that can affect the whole project and I strongly recommend getting a contractor for it (in Norwegian - a Kontrakt beskrivelse bad)

Article Keywords:

bathroom renovation tips, bathroom renovation ideas, bathroom repair tips

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!