Article Side
The perfect wine cellar doors by Ceceliaann

Article published on January 2nd 2012 | Home Improvement

Perfect wine doors could make a grand entrance to the wine cellar. The cellar holds your expensive collection of wine and what could be more apt than having the right door designed to enter the world of exotic wine. Remember that it is no ordinary storeroom and it requires picking the right style of cellar doors to ensure that it stands above the rest. The right cellar door can ensure that your cellar has a visual appeal. Functionality matters when it comes to choosing a cellar door. The doors should not just be appealing but practical as well. The price also matters while making a choice. The door has to be thick enough to keep up with the atmosphere. A thick door can ensure that moisture is retained inside thereby helping in preserving your expensive wine.

Whether it is wooden doors or iron doors does not matter; except that it should be sturdy enough to protect your belongings. Choosing redwood is advisable as it is sturdy. Substituting it for cheaper plywood or low quality wood could only cause more damage than any good. The glass used in the door also needs to be selected carefully. There should be two panes of glass on the door and this ensures that cool air from the cellar does not escape. Do not buy from any door manufacturer, make sure you buy only from authentic wine cellar doors manufacturer. Wine doors are expensive and hence do not waste money on unauthorized dealers. Buy only from reputed wine door manufacturers. Since most of the wine door makers are found online check out their catalogue to get an idea of the design.

Discussion with the wine cellar doors company can help in designing the best doors for your wine cellar. Explain in detail about your requirement to the staff. Tell them what you expect and take into consideration their ideas as well. If you are lucky you can get a readymade wine door as well. Choosing the right wine door manufacturer is no big deal if you are on the right track. The door should fit the space and should have all the features that a wine door should possess. A great wine door can set the mood for your wine cellar. It can add to the design of your home. Wine cellars are no ordinary rooms and hence cannot have common entrance doors. The temperature in the cellar is set and the door is instrumental in holding this temperature.

Wine cellar doors are exterior grade doors and should be very sturdy and durable. Only such doors can help maintain the right humidity and temperature inside the cellar. The door has to be insulated to avoid warping. Door sweeps and thresholds have to be installed to stop cool air from escaping. Do not forget to check for perimeter seal. The seal helps to fasten all the openings and prevent air leaks. The glass should be tempered. Only custom wood meant for cellar doors need to be used as they have both strength and insulating properties.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/the-perfect-wine-cellar-doors.htm - Article Side

Ceceliaann - About Author:
Cecelia Ann is an interior designer with expertise in designing a wine cellar doors and other entry doors. she also is a professional writer with many entrance door articles to his credit.

Article Keywords:
wine cellar doors

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!