Blackout blinds have become essential items for bedrooms. They are especially d in childrenâ€™s room. These blinds allow little ones to have uninterrupted sleep. The child is not disturbed by the stern rays of sun. Children require lot more sleep then the grown-ups to remain healthy. Many parents spent sleepless nights thinking about the health concerns of their kids. In such situations the parents can rely on the blackout blinds to get best sun protection. Blackout blinds are also essential for professionals working in the night shifts. This variety of window blind is made with extra thick material and has sun protection coating too. It allows the homeowners have sound sleep in the odd hours of the day as well. Blackout blinds are quite easy to clean and maintain, they will not require too much efforts.

As you can see there are plenty of reasons to select the blackout blinds. But as a homeowner you would want to make the best choice regarding window treatment options. Window treatment has become a rage amongst homeowners in UK, everyone wants to settle for nothing but the best. To choose the best variety of blackout blinds certain things should be kept in mind such as their types and advantages of each type. There are basically five types of blackout blinds to choose from such as Roller, Roman, Vertical, Velux type roof blinds and pleated blinds. Let us now take a look at the features and benefits of each variety:

â€¢Blackout Vertical Blinds: This type of blackout blinds offers a great choice of colour schemes and finishes. You will definitely find a blind that compliments well with your existing home decor. Some of the blinds have fire retardant features too. Before purchasing this variety of blinds keep in mind that small amount of light may get through if the vertical vanes or slats are not fitted to a recess window. Even if you look to address the issue by installing the blinds from outside the frame still some light may sneak through the sides. To limit the light entry make sure the blinds are hung over the window frame with a space of at least 75mm left on top and bottom of the blinds.

â€¢Blackout Roller Blinds: There are many roller blinds available which use blackout materials. First of all decide whether you would like patterns or plain fabrics. As the fabrics have to be adequately treated to infuse blackout properties so they can be little expensive. But these blackout blinds can control light effectively. Though a small area surrounding the edge of the blind may let in some light into the rooms.

â€¢Blackout Roman Blinds: Many Roman blinds are available with blackout lining on the reverse side of the blind. This lining not only helps in providing great sun protection to the inmates but it also improves the way blind is hung.

â€¢Blackout Pleated Blinds: Pleated blinds having blackout properties are a combination of both style and practicality. These blinds can be used in bedroom, conservatory or even the guest room.

â€¢Blackout Velux Type Roof Blinds: With the installation of this blind you can provide sun protection to your loft rooms. This variety of blackout blinds can keep the loft rooms cool as these rooms tend get heated up fairly quickly.

Blackout blinds are very practical window treatment options. Modern advances in the field of window blinds means there are many choices in terms of colour, style and material. Thus choose your variety of blackout blinds and reap the advantages.
