

Article published on May 18th 2012 | Home Improvement

There are a variety of reasons homeowners lean toward a stone fireplace in Classic Mantels ranging from the aesthetic towards the practical. Around the simplest level, a stone fireplace, in any of their possible forms, creates probably the most beautiful and soothing fireplaces you can bring into your home. Whether your tastes are elegant or rustic, elaborate or simple, there's a Classic Mantels stone fireplace available which will suit your fancy. From a more practical standpoint, stone fireplaces, especially when coupled with stone mantels and surrounds, are sturdy, long-lasting, absorb and radiate heat into the home long afterwards the fireplace is gone, and score tops in just about every safety category. Not only is the possibility of burns not as extreme just like metal or glass fireplaces and doors, but stone surrounds and mantels also protect the rest of your home from sparks and embers, if wood is the fuel of preference.

Classic Mantels Stone Fireplaces Materials

Another advantage of selecting a stone fireplace in Classic Mantels may be the wide selection of options you'll have when it comes to fireplace design. The sky is literally the limit if you're set on stone. For a masonry stone fireplace you are able to choose any stone that catches your fancy, from native black granite to imported sandstone. Carved or cut stone fireplaces are also choices for homeowners. These fireplaces tend to be more elaborate and sleek than masonry fireplaces, and are often graced with intricate designs carved into the stone. Finally, cast stone is definitely an option. It is not as authentic just as real stone, but that doesn't take away from its fine looks or the reaction you will get from guests you invite over for lunch and drinks on a cold night.

Classic Mantels Stone Fireplace Veneers

A third option that many people are gravitating towards nowadays is real stone or simulated stone veneers. These thin slices of natural stone, or imitation stone produced from concrete or polyurethane, provide you with the look and feel of real stone if you don't take you to definitely the cleaners. They're an excellent option for newer homes, particularly if you should you prefer a gas or electric fireplace over wood fireplaces.

On a concluding note on can say, yes the fireplaces have turned out to be the most complementing element to any home. They still retain their traditional function of comforting the home interiors but have also undertaken the role of element of adoration. These today are used as more than just a air comforting device. A fireplace installed in a home simply gets the edge over any other home decoration element.

There is such a massive variety that is available with the fireplaces based on the material of mantels used and the type of fuel burnt in the fireplaces. There are so many stone options like the marble fireplaces, granite fireplaces etc and based on fuel these can be classified as wood fireplaces, gas fireplaces or electric fireplaces.

Looking for fireplaces you can find the finest quality of these at: <http://www.classicmantels.co.uk>

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/variety-of-fireplaces-for-your-homes.htm> - Article Side

Glyn Jones - About Author:

Penelope McMahon is a renowned SEO expert and content writer who has written many articles on a Stone fireplaces, a wood fireplaces and a marble fireplaces.

Article Keywords:

Stone Fireplaces, Marble Fireplaces, Wood Fireplaces

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!