Most likely, your home is your biggest investment. To protect that investment, it's important to maintain all areas of the home, including the basement. Whether your basement is a fully-renovated home office or TV room -- or if it's simply a place for storage and half-empty boxes -- keeping a Kingston basement dry is vital for the health of both your home and your family.

Why is Basement Waterproofing Important?

There are many reasons why basement waterproofing is important. For starters, a damp basement is often home to mold and mildew. These fungi can lead to numerous health issues for both humans and pets, including breathing problems, allergies, eye and skin irritation, headaches, and fatigue.

A wet basement can also lead to troublesome and expensive structural issues, such as rotting wood. What's more, many pests and rodents thrive in humid, damp environments. Employing effective basement waterproofing techniques will help keep your basement dry, healthy, and safe. It will also help to eliminate that unpleasant musty smell that permeates your basement and all the things kept there (e.g. furniture, clothes).

The number one secret to effective basement waterproofing in Kingston is finding an experienced, reputable basement waterproofing company offering top-notch products and service. Patented, time-tested basement waterproofing products are key to keeping any Kingston basement dry and healthy year-round. So don't settle for just any basement waterproofing contractor offering the cheapest rates. Instead, look for professional, certified basement waterproofing companies in Kingston. In the end, you'll be very glad you did!

Popular Basement Waterproofing Products in Kingston

From flooring, walls, windows, gutters, dehumidifiers, washing machines, and water heaters, there are numerous basement waterproofing products available for Kingston homeowners. Let's take a quick look at two popular basement waterproofing products.

1. Basement Dehumidifier: Perhaps the easiest and most affordable basement waterproofing product, an energy-efficient dehumidifier helps remove moisture from the air. Reducing moisture and humidity from the air not only stifles mold and mildew growth, it also helps reduce that "musty basement" smell.

When shopping for a basement dehumidifier, be sure to purchase one that's both energy-efficient and self-draining. Energy-efficiency is important for obvious reasons -- you can run the dehumidifier 24/7 without worrying about it drastically increasing your monthly energy bill. A self-draining basement dehumidifier comes highly recommended because it requires no effort on the part of the homeowner. The dehumidifier can remove more than 100 pints of water every day, and expel it automatically, without the homeowner having to empty a collection tray several times a week.

2. Perimeter Drainage / Sump Pump System: When it comes to protecting your home from leaks and flooding, you'll need more than a basement dehumidifier. That's why many Kingston homeowners turn to perimeter drainage and sump pump systems. Interior basement perimeter drainage systems collect excess water and direct it towards a sump pump, which then expels the water outside and away from the home. Interior perimeter drainage systems can be installed in one to two days and cost half the price of exterior drainage systems.

When shopping for a sump pump, be sure to ask your Kingston basement waterproofing contractor about installing a battery backup pump. That way, you'll be 100% protected from water damage and flooding even if you lose power during a severe storm.
