A very important part of beautification and dÃ©cor of a place is its lighting. Proper lighting can change the look of the place entirely. May it be office or home or a shopping complex or even a public park, lighting can create the exact required ambiance for that place. Light fixtures come in a lot of designs which can exactly suit to the surrounding and make it even more soothing or rocking as it is wished to be. Lighting can be of various types starting from bulbs, lamps to chandeliers. Now the question is which type of lighting should you choose or your home in order improvise its look? Well not to worry as we are going to discuss about two unique kind of light fixtures, which would suit for each and every kind of environment.

One of the best lighting choices can be wrought Iron Lighting. It is an excellent option for classy looking style and these kind of light fixtures generally never move out of fashion. Even more exciting part is to note is that wrought iron looks good in almost all kinds of home dÃ©cor. Wrought Iron Lighting is basically associated with antique and old style. Starting from bedroom to living room to bathroom and even to garden lighting, Wrought Iron Lighting provides us with a wide range of durable and stylish lighting products to beautify our homes with hence they can prove to be lifelong assets.

Well if you donâ€™t wish to have a royal or a classic style there is another option for you which is also good enough to suit any kind of environment. Rustic lighting is one of the most affordable and creative option of decorating your place. When we talk â€œRusticâ€• of the first thing that comes to our mind is Natural, and it is obvious as Rustic theme mostly features things in its most natural form. Rustic stuff is made with hours of finishing just to make it look purely natural which itself makes it a great piece of art work. One of the best parts of rustic lighting is that we can also make it ourselves. Following are some ideas which will help you make nice rustic lighting for your house.

â€¢ One of the most original ideas is an antler candle holder. You can buy antlers and set candles on them or can fit bulbs of your desired color on them. This will not only be affordable but will also give a unique look to the place.

â€¢ You can also use wood trims or twigs to create rustic lighting just by gluing them to your palm lamp which would give them a jungle look adding a different spark to the lighting â€¢ Another way is to just use dried leaves on the lamps for decoration which can have a classic as well as an artistic look.

â€¢ The kidâ€™s room can have lamps with animalâ€™s picture on them.
