Marriage anniversaries make for extremely special occasions and every couple wishes to celebrate this occasion in a way that's grand and exciting. And why not? Marriage anniversaries are big occasions and are occasions that speak of togetherness and love. Two people spend time together and share their lives together which ultimately make for big occasions to celebrate. These anniversaries are about exchanging gifts, having romantic dinners, going on fun outings and enjoying short trips together to celebrate the years of togetherness and love. However, there are certain people who like doing things differently and like to celebrate in unique ways. Nowadays people like to give their homes a wedding anniversary makeover to add that edge of romance into their otherwise usual and monotonous lives.

Read on for some tips to give your home dÃ©cor a wedding anniversary twist-

Blend some Gold and some Red

Red is considered to be the color of love. You can't simply go ahead with a romantic makeover for your home without considering and incorporating the color red in the dÃ©cor! But you obviously have to ensure that you do not go over the top with the color in anyway. You need to mix and blend the color gold with red to balance and even out monotony that may otherwise appear with the use of just one single color. Gold gives a feeling of richness and abundance. You can have golden artificial flowers placed on your red laminates around the house. You can also use other options like gold wall-paper and have red colored accessories, wall-art hung around.

Use silk and turn the space right around

Silk seems synonymous to romance. The moment one thinks about silk, one thinks of all the free-flowing curtains and all the silky smooth touch of the fabrics in the form of pillow covers, cushions, sofa covers, linens etc. around the house. Sounds romantic? Doesn't it? For a wedding makeover, you need to get some draperies and some upholstered chairs to give your space a romantic twist! Your home would look marvelous with the silk fabric along with the rich looking wood laminates!

Bring in some unique embellishments

You can bring in some tassels for your pillows, ribbon details for your lampshades, some pretty accessories, and drape fabrics for the canopy bed, lace borders for your quilts and some beautiful smelling candles for your home. Match your embellishments and accessories with your laminate designs and totally change the look and feel of your place!
