Ruby engagements rings have become a symbol of beauty and royalty for most of the couples. The main thing which attracts these rings is the colour of this ring. Colour is considered to be the most important aspect about this ring. It decided the quality of the rubies. The shape and size of the stone in the ring doesnâ€™t really matter much but colour decided the fortune of the ring. These engagements rings are available in so many different eye attracting colours. The famous colours for this stone are yellow, gold, platinum and white. Most of the young girls like to go for the platinum and gold ruby ring as it definitely gives them a desired look at the party. It does separate you from rest of the crowd. For the young, platinum and gold ruby engagement rings are perfect to buy because it is the perfect fashion accessory for them. It imparts them with a stunning and glamorous look especially to those girls who are very much in touch with the fashion world.

The other women really like to buy red ruby rings. The red ruby is really famous because it has its own glamorous and stunning looks. It symbolises the real royalty touch to your personality. A red ruby ring is always the ultimate choice, whether you have to wear it at a wedding party or any other formal party. Make sure to buy the ring having a nice shape because different cuts, size and carats do influence your ruby ringâ€™s appearance.

There are so many sapphire engagement rings available in the market having different shapes, sizes and colours. They are available in different shapes like oval, marquise, pear and round. Comfort should be at first, while you wore this ring even though it being hard in nature. Sapphire stone comes in many different colours. Some of the colours are blue, red, pink, purple and more. The darker the colour of the stone, the more is the value for it. There are traces of chromium in the pink sapphire and purple sapphire has some traces of vanadium. Sapphire engagement rings are most popular at the places such as India, Ceylon, Africa, Burma, Vietnam, Thailand and Australia. They are more famous at these places because sapphires are mostly found at these locations. These all locations are exotica and thus consist of land containing sapphire stones.
