When it comes to business, manufacturing or technical translation, people have been trusting ACCU Translation for over 30 years. Our professional staff has knowledge of over 50 languages, offering everything from French Translations to Korean, Swedish and German translations, and can help you with any specific languages you may require. And with years of experience in the aerospace, energy, software localization, e-learning, consumer electronics and land, sea and air applications, weâ€™ve established a strong presence as an international translation agency people can depend on.

That being said, weâ€™re proud to announce our new office location in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada. Our experience in serving clients with technical language obligations positions us as one of the few translation companies with the knowledge, experience and certifications to do qualified language work for the aerospace and defense sectors covering land, sea and air throughout Canadaâ€™s Atlantic Provinces.

With its head office in Burlington, Ontario, a satellite location in Denver, Colorado and Sao Paolo, Brazil, ACCU is well positioned to serve its local and international clients.

At ACCU we know how important accuracy is when it comes to your business translations needs. Speed, effectiveness and a quality product are what we promise to deliver to our clients who require Multi Language Translations.

More of our translation services include website globalization and multilingual Search Engine Optimization (MSEO). However, whether from the smallest document to the largest website or software application, ACCU is committed to delivering quality Multi Language Translations every time.

We call it â€œlocalization with precisionâ€•. In cross-cultural marketing material, specifically, localization becomes extremely important. Thorough research and lots of experience help us ensure that your key message and your brandâ€™s personality are delivered accurately in every locale. We know how important it is to be consistent in every country, region and community â€“ and we work to make sure our clients get the results they need when it comes to business translations.

Critical to our success is our Advanced Project Management process. What this entails is working closely with our clients during project design to determine clear definitions of process, roles, responsibilities, dependencies and pivot points at the outset. During the planning stage of a clientâ€™s project we ensure accurate file usage; high quality DTP tools and accurate versioning are all in place. At ACCU we begin the Multi Language Translation work before our clients have even finished the source content â€“ preparing a glossary and style guide early on to make sure the translation process is faster and more efficient. This approach has helped make us one of the most successful translation agencies in the world.
