Joel J. Kofsky has been running the personal injury law office in Philadelphia since last 20 years. The law office only represents personal injury victims and never an insurance company. The company helps personal injury victims with settlements and claims of personal injury.

The many lawyers working with the firm include car accident lawyers, slip and fall lawyers, dog bite lawyers, Animal Attacks lawyers, compensation attorneys and burn accident lawyers.

The Philadelphia slip and fall lawyers mainly handle cases related to premises liability which is a legal term for this category. The premises liability occurs when the safety and security are not taken into consideration while constructing buildings and their premises. There is a risk of accidents when proper safety measures are not taken into consideration in buildings and surrounding area. Such accidents can happen to anyone anytime if the property owners don't take proper actions to ensure safety and security in the building and premises of the building.

Such accidents encourage people to claim for injury compensations and the Philadelphia slip and fall lawyers help them get that. The premises liability could be claimed in case of slip and fall accidents, injuries at construction sites, tripping and falling and in case of accidents due to improper security and safety. Claims can also be made in case of common slip and fall injuries like accidents due to accumulated snow and ice on sidewalks, in parking lots or roadways, slippery and broken stairways, lack of maintaining carpets and rugs which can cause tripping etc. In such cases an attorney is required to prove that the accident happened because of unsafe conditions and the property owner did not take any necessary action in spite of knowing about the risky conditions. This is the responsibility of the Philadelphia slip and fall lawyers in Joel J. Kofsky's law office.

Another area of accidents which gives many clients to Joel J. Kofsky's law office is automobile accidents. The Philadelphia car accident lawyers help people claim for car accident compensations in cases of car damage due to accident and medical treatments required in case of injuries in car accidents because in cases of car accidents people end up spending thousands of dollars depending on the seriousness of the accident. The Philadelphia car accidents lawyers communicate with the insurance companies on behalf of the accident victims in order to claim compensation for their injuries and car damages. Hiring an attorney in such cases make it very easy to claim for maximum possible compensations otherwise people spend months and years fighting to get the compensation without much knowledge about the legalities of the case. Philadelphia car accident lawyers even help people if they don't have a health insurance in place as they have tie-ups with many medical service providers so can put the accident victims in touch with good physicians in order to get immediate medical help.

The Philadelphia slip and fall lawyers and car accident lawyers have helped many accident victims in past to get their compensations and are still doing the same.
