Nokia Launching a New Device with Windows Smartphone by Harddy Matt

Article published on January 4th 2012 | Mobile Phones

When talking about the leading manufacturers of Mobile phones then only Nokia comes into your mind. The company tries to launch new and innovative gadgets in the international market as Nokia occupies a very special place in almost every age group. Nokia 2011 would be the most remarkable time period in Nokia's past record as the partners of Nokia said that after such a long time they have seen the new and hopeful version of Nokia which is really very great. Moreover they also commented that the company has perfect tools and outlook to conquer the challenging mobile market.

They also said that the company is not in the race of the leading mobile manufacturers. They have seen the portfolios of their innovative products for the year 2012 and 2013. The theory of the company is not to launch a new gadget or a Smartphone but in reality the company again launching Nokia in smart phones. Lumia 800 is actually an astonishing gadget and that is also at a very affordable price. This time O2 would not be the partner of Lumia 800 moreover this deal would not be shared with everyone. In other words all the partners would not launch Lumia 800.

Regarding window phone the company intentions are not to become king in windows phone but to create a good environment among the partners. With the presence of valuable partners in this ecosystem then the company would innovate more superior products and the consumer preference is their first motive.

Nokia always gives first priority to quality than quantity. They just compete with the quality of the product because only then you may create a position in the mind of the consumers by offering them quality items. The company is facing challenges from Samsung, Apple and Blackberry but if the company has all the things to create something new then all such challenges hardly affect them. The company is built on responsibility, compassion and necessity. It does not care about the height of leadership instead of that is self aware knows what they are doing and have to prove themselves.
