Article published on February 9th 2012 | Mobile Phones

In view of increasing pollution due to electronic waste in the world, there is a concern about the manufacture of mobile handsets. Millions of mobile handsets are produced in the world every day. If this production goes on in the similar way, it will become difficult to manage this electronic waste and as a result the future generations will have to suffer many health hazards.

At an average every individual in US has at least two to three useless mobile handsets in his or her drawer. If we count the actual number, there will be millions of useless cell phones in US alone. If these mobile handsets are given to someone, who is purchasing a new cell phone, the demand of new mobile handsets can be reduced. Therefore the load on cell phone manufacturing units will reduce thereby reducing their production. Working on the same principle, organizations such as Pacebutler corporation offers you a good opportunity to sell your old mobile phones for cash.

By selling used mobile phones, you can play an important role in the protection of your environment. When coming generations would ask you in future, what you have done for your environment, you will proudly say that you helped to reduce the electronic waste on earth. It is a great step taken by this organization. This step will collect millions of old mobile handsets and reduce the burden on cell phone manufacturing units.

This step from this organization also puts social cause on the forefront. By selling used mobile phones to this organization, it donates an educational book to a needy student. Since education is the base of all cultures and sciences. Therefore we all have an obligation towards spreading the education to as much people as possible.

By selling your old mobile handset to this organization, you actively take part in all these activities. You fulfill your social duties and give an example of humanity. It gives you satisfaction. It is the best medium of disposing your old and useless cell phones properly.

You just have to see the list of the cost of old mobile handsets and then find out the cost of your cell phone's model number. You can then send your cell phone to them. If your cell phone is in working condition, you can get as much as $125 per mobile handset. This amount is sent to you through cheque or bank order depending upon your location and convenience.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/mobile-phones-articles/recycle-mobile-handsets-to-protect-environment.htm - Article Side

Pace Butler - About Author:
Pacebutler Corporation is an organization, where people earn good cash a selling old mobile phones. You can join their charity campaign for the welfare of people. For more details on various schemes as a phones for cash log on to www.pacebutler.com

Article Keywords:
selling old mobile phones, phones for cash

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!