Up to a few days ago, only Slovakia and Romania were the nations where users were able to get the Value pack of the Samsung Galaxy W. But now, it has started rolling out in Europe as OTA or via Samsung Kies. Many other countries will also follow the suit soon. The gadget is based on Android 2.3.6, and the Value pack update brings ICS-like features to smartphones, which are generally not provided in Android 4.0 update. Face Unlock is the most prominent new feature which has been added in order to improve security.

A new camera icon will also be visible at the time of capturing visuals, which will facilitate you to take the images without interrupting the recordings. Some new Accessibility updates are also available in the Value pack, which allow you to end a phone call with the Power key, and change the text size in the messaging, calendar, contacts and memo applications.

Samsung Galaxy W is a smart touchscreen device with TFT capacitive touchscreen that displays 16M colours. It has a 5 MP snapper with features like autofocus, LED flash, geo-tagging, touch focus, face detection and smile detection. For connecting internet, you get GPRS and Wi-Fi with apps like Google Search, Maps, Gmail, YouTube, Calendar, Google Talk and Picasa integration. You may browse the sites with complete fun due to the availability of HTML supported browser, Abode Flash and RSS reader. The media player is the entertainment feature, which supports the audio and video formats like MP4, DivX, XviD, WMV, H.264, H.263, MP3, WAV, eAAC+ and Flac. Get entertainment via live streaming in stereo FM radio with RDS. Visit across the globe without any fear of getting lost away, due the A-GPS feature of the gadget.

If you are a working professional, then you can manage your office work through document viewer/editor. A large amount of data can be stored in its mammoth storage space. It has microSD card slot, in which you can add the memory up to 31 GB. On the other hand, it has built-in internal memory of 1.7 GB. As mentioned above also, the update will enhance the usability of the device. You can get this get under various contract deals which provide you a plenty of offers. Some of these offers include free minutes of talk time, free text messages, free connection, cashback offers, reduced or no line rental and some lavish items as gifts and more.
