Details You Should Ask when Applying for a Loan

by Randy Robinson

Article published on March 6th 2012 | Mortgage

Obtaining a mortgage might seem a boring and stressful process. Nonetheless, asking the loan lender a bunch of questions will help you comprehend the procedure and select an appropriate loan. Here are some of the topics you might want to ask the loan provider when applying for a mortgage:

What are the requirements for the loan?

The qualifications usually hinge on the type of loan you're applying forâ€”VA loans and government-funded mortgage programs commonly provide easy requirements for the application. Make sure to prepare proof of income, employment certificate, statement of assets and liabilities, and credit report. Having these ready will help speed up the application process.

How much is the interest rate?

You should find out the interest rate so you can calculate the total amount and the monthly fees you need to pay the lender. A great way to compare home loan programs is by calculating the annual percentage rate (APR). The APR is estimated as the yearly percentage of the total cost of interest and other costs charged by the loan provider throughout the mortgage. It would be sensible to request a breakdown of the APR to make a fair comparison and an accurate calculation.

Will there be changes in the interest rate?

Rates of interest change depending on the mortgage program you are getting. In case of a fixed rate mortgage, the interest won't change until the end of the loan. The same can't be expressed for adjustable rate mortgage since the interest rate will shift throughout the term of the loan. If you're considering getting an adjustable rate mortgage, then you must ask the mortgage lenders in Virginia regarding the frequency of the shifts and the amount of the increased rate. You should completely understand the adjustment system to prevent delays in payment.

How much are the closing fees?

Legislation requires mortgage lenders Virginia residents trust to provide a good faith appraisal of their closing costs in three days of the application. This will offer you a list of costs for any services carried out during the deal. Be thorough in reviewing the appraisal to understand what each item pertains to-- this is essential, especially if you're weighing several loan offers.

What are the payment terms?

Virginia mortgage lenders commonly have their favored choice of payment mode-- ask them how you 'd send the money for each installment. It would also be advisable to know more about the repayment penalties on the loan. Some lenders charge one percent of the loan although others provide an amount equal to six months of interest. You should be aware of the duration and computation of the charge so you'll be ready for it.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/mortgage-articles/details-you-should-ask-when-applying-for-a-loan.htm - Article Side

Randy Robinson - About Author:
For more details, searcha mortgage lenders in Virginia, a mortgage lenders Virginia, and a Virginia mortgage lenders in Google for related information.

Article Keywords:
mortgage lenders in virginia, mortgage lenders virginia, virginia mortgage lenders

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!