Why You Should Consider Buying Pet Medications Online by Robert Wilson

Article published on January 20th 2012 | Pets

Ordering pet medications online can save you a significant amount of money â€“ not to mention time and gas â€“ over traveling to your local retail pet supply store. As a fellow pet owner and lover, Iâ€™ve found that shopping over the web for my petâ€™s medicines (and much more) is incredibly convenient â€“ a must have for any busy schedule. Hereâ€™s why youâ€™ll want to consider ordering pet meds online t

Youâ€™ll Save Money over Buying from the Vet

Many people think that the only place to buy pet meds is from their local vet â€“ but thatâ€™s not entirely true. Although you will need a prescription from your veterinarian for popular flea and tick medicines like Frontline, Advantage and K9 Advantix (to name a few), you can also buy top rated products from an online pet pharmacy and save money by shopping online. In addition to pet medications online, you can also find stores that sell toys, vitamins, pet food and more. By purchasing in bulk, youâ€™ll save money on the pet supplies you use most.

Youâ€™ll Earn Rewards When You Shop

Depending on how much your order is, you may find that buying pet medications online qualifies you for free shipping. Some of these e-stores also offer rewards or perks, wherein you can earn points as you shop, which can then be redeemed toward other products. Itâ€™s a great way to stock up on what you need â€“ especially before times like flea and tick season, when it can be difficult to find a medicine in your local big box mart. Online stores also often have daily deals, where you can get a substantial discount if you act quickly. Itâ€™s a great way to reward loyal pet owners for shopping online.

Youâ€™ll Be Able to Read Reviews and Ratings from Fellow Pet Owners

I get asked things about pet meds from my friends and neighbors all the time. For example, is it safe to buy online? Do they carry name brands like Cosequin for pain or Frontline for fleas? Do they have flavored tablet medicines that I can give my finicky dog or cat? And the answer to all of these things is a resounding yes! Obviously, youâ€™ll want to shop at a place that uses industry standard security and encrypts your financial transaction. Donâ€™t trust something that looks like a â€œfl by nightâ€• operation.

If you see a considerable number of reviews and ratings by fellow pet owners, youâ€™ll know youâ€™re shopping at a trustworthy place. In fact, I often use the reviews and ratings from other pet owners (along with my vetâ€™s advice, of course!) to determine the best types of products for my pets â€“ from food to toys to medicines and much more. Itâ€™s great to know that people just like you are enjoying the fun and companionship that a pet can bring â€“ and how you can reward your pet with a long and healthy life just by shopping for pet medications online.
