

Article published on December 21st 2011 | Positive Thinking

Creating abundance is not always done with savvy business decisions, wise investments and betting on the right horse at the track. While those things can be part of making financial gains because they show belief in the act of attempting to get more money, it is not necessary for you to have money to begin creating abundance. If that goes against most teachings when it comes to money, especially the working formula that helps you to make money is that you have to spend money, and then it is time to start viewing money and prosperity differently. In those examples, each act required money to start with. But if you look closer, they have something else in common. On the process of trashing some of the unwanted videos in my Dish TV DVR, I happened to watch a very old talk show where people were speaking about the importance of will power. Though the show was aired long before, the information I got from it when I watched it again was new.

Each of those acts has the person basically acting on the faith that they can benefit from what they are doing. The person betting on the horse has faith that his horse can win and give him a financial gain. The person investing into a business or the stock market has faith that the decision can make him money. Each one is aware that there is a risk involved in using these methods of creating abundance. Yet they do it in the faith that it can work for them, and in the hope that it will for sure. It is that act of faith and that belief which makes it happen and it is much more important to succeed in the methods mentioned in the above examples apart from the fact that they had money to lose or to start with.

Not everyone who makes a risky business decision will see financial gain. And every horse cannot win. So there is no way that every person, no matter how much belief they have, will make money in this way. Yet creating abundance in your own life is possible, and it does not require, like in the case of the horse better, than others lose so that you may win. Foremost is the belief that the universe provides things we need abundantly. There is more than enough for everyone. No one has to go hungry so that another can eat or no one has to lose so that another can win. There is enough for everyone, but everyone does not know this and that is why so many have to enjoy with the little of what is found abundantly.

Once you start to believe that you have reached your satisfaction limit and there is enough for you without it meaning that there will be less for someone else, then you can free the way for yourself to start creating abundance in your life. And once you believe that it is not necessary to spend money to make money, you have surpassed or cleared another hurdle that holds many people back. By simply allowing yourself to view money and prosperity differently, and choosing to believe that what you think can affect what you have, you can change your life. If your thoughts are positive, you will attract the abundance positivity. If you let yourself believe that you can have what you want, you open the door to achieving it. Just put your practice every day deciding that you can have the things that you believe you can have. Using positive thought and this type of belief are the most important steps in creating abundance in your life.

In conclusion, the mighty nature will offer you with opportunities that you are dreaming about but with some strings attached. Just by sitting down and dreaming about huge money will only take you into the dangerous pit of scammers. The real success will hit your way when you dream about a goal that can give you huge money after you reach it. In short, do not dream about becoming a movie star for fame but dream about becoming a best movie star so that the fame you are looking for will reach you automatically. Wish you a Merry Christmas.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/positive-thinking-articles/your-dream-for-abundance-will-turn-true.htm> - Article Side

Mark D - About Author:

Being a freelancer I keep blogging and writing on various topics. Though they say for every action there is a reaction, I do believe that for every action there should be a reason known or unknown. For example, when I started off with something in my a Dish TV DVR, I ended up watching a show once again which resulted in writing this article.

Article Keywords:

abundance, reaching abundance, dish tv

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!