You have date today or let me say you had a week ago, everything was perfect and suddenly heâ€™s not interested in you anymore. Well, did you ever think what mistakes you might have done, during your first date itself? Here, I will come up with some of the mistakes to avoid that freak him out on first date itself. So you better read it carefully, rather than thinking whatâ€™s gone wrong later on. Thereâ€™s nothing to worry about it, if you are new in this game itsâ€™ going to happen, by mistakes people learn right? Here are some of the dating mistakes that you should avoid.

Past Relationship: No need to talk about your past relationship on your first date, if you had any. What happen, how it happen and all, especially no need to criticize your past, itsâ€™ one of the biggest dating mistake that you should avoid. Itsâ€™ truly said, first impression is the last. If he asks you, let him know in an assertive way that you had past but it ended somehow. Keep the flirting going on and donâ€™t let him escape from your seduction lady.

Shyness: Being shy is really cute, but if you overdo it, itsâ€™ going to send signal that you are not interested. You might think thereâ€™s nothing wrong in it, but itsâ€™ one of the dating mistake. Dating means what? To learn about each other and to see whether you both are romantically compatible or not, isnâ€™t it so? This is the time, you have to open up, and speak. Try to know him and let him know you too. You only think, if you keep trying to speak with someone, and they do not respond, what youâ€™ll feel? Communication looks interesting, if itsâ€™ from both the side.

Trying to Show what you are not: If you keep faking about yourself, sooner or later heâ€™ll get to know. At that time, if you were truly interested in him, then be prepared to loose him. Just be yourself, be honest and let him know your inner person. Itsâ€™ one of the biggest mistake to avoid it, or else heâ€™ll surely freak out whenever he comes to know that you lied to him.

Not reaching in Time: If you had genuine reason and you get late, itsâ€™ something tolerable. But, if you do it intentionally, it will give him signal that you are having some other important plans and you are not taking him seriously.

These are some of the suggestions. I hope they will be helpful to you in avoiding the dating mistakes and I hope you wonâ€™t be the one who freak him out on first date itself, enjoy and have a fantastic date my friend.
