A common concern voiced by foreigners using Chinese dating sites to find their perfect partners is that it is an extremely slow and time consuming process. While it does not make dating Chinese females less exciting or have any negative impact on the popularity of these oriental ladies, it would definitely help men to know why the process actually takes so much time.

Firstly it is extremely important to be aware of the truth that Chinese dating is governed by an entirely different set of rules and moralities as compared to dating in other parts of the world. Chinese people rarely date for fun as they donâ€™t believe in taking any relationship between a man and a woman lightly. As such it is quite against their temperament to date someone online just pass their time or for fun only.

For most Chinese people, especially women, every relationship initiated on an online dating site is done with the intention of turning it into a lifetime alliance. That is why they take a lot of time to respond to the messages of prospective dating partners. In fact not many of them are willing to date more than one person at a time even online and only when they feel that their partner is not serious enough or that he might not be the right one to spend their entire life with, do they seek other dating partners.

Even after having responded positively to the dating request of a Chinese dating website member, these ladies rarely start conversing with them in a free and frank manner. This is because they want to ensure that the person they are interacting with is worthy of their love and trust and judging this can take anywhere between a few weeks to a couple of months or even more. Hence, it is extremely important to exhibit extreme patience using Chinese online dating sites.
