There are different ways to make kids bible lessons fun for your kids and parents should know those ways. In fact, the attention span of children is not good. You can only have their attention for a short period of time. So, if you aren't creative enough in your teaching strategies, then, chances are that you will not be capable of finish your lessons in one sitting. Having some ideas in your bible teachings are important in cases like this, make some funny lessons you wish your kids to learn. Use these ideas and tips below in sharing bible stories for the whole family.

Puppet Show

Animated shows are loved by children. So, try to make some bible stories which you can use puppets or other relevant materials, this is one of a good idea you can integrate to their learning. When it can in making puppets, you can research on the internet for some information. Make it simpler for you. All you have to do is to make the characters recognizable and make it as colorful as possible so that your kids will be able to learn about the characters in the bible without having any problems at all.

Creative Props

You'll be able to make kids bible lessons interesting for your children when you use props. You need to feed their eyes visually so that they can grasp the things that you are trying to teach them in an easier manner. If you're also thinking to have more hours with your kids, ask them to create props together with you and help you build the characters in the bible, you are making them remember the lessons in this manner. This will give your kids an idea on what the lessons will be all about.

Add Music To The Lessons

Music are loved by children. Without them knowing it, they dance to the music once they hear it. There are so many Christian songs for children that you can let them tune in to before you start the actual lesson. Choose songs that tells the love of God for kids so that they can relate with it. With regards when choosing songs, you can make a research on the internet about the different types of songs for your kids in their age. You can easily teach the songs to your children if you will print the lyrics.

When all of these things are done, you can make a short recap of the lesson and ask your kids what they have learned from it. After the lesson, make sure they are understand how the teaching of God can make an effect to them. Through this, you will be able to gauge if you are making any progress in your bible sharing. Ensure that you you must do everything in every kids bible lessons so they can understand the importance of God in their life.
