Know Your Numerology Compatibility and Be More Aware

by Renesmee

Article published on May 29th 2012 | Religion

Each of us has a separate destiny; we are born with a set of numbers unique to us. Time and again, these numbers show up and influence the way we live our lives and interact with others. These numbers define the opportunities that come our way and the challenges we face at certain periods of our lives. We can also use these numbers to know more about the important relationships in our lives. A numerology compatibility report, for instance, would tell us where our romantic relationship is going.

It is a commonly observed fact that we get along with some people and not with others. This is also true about places and activities. There are certain places that almost beckon us and then there are those we would rarely like to visit. Numerology answers the how and why behind these facts, and helps us come to terms with what numbers have in store for us.

Once we know the core numbers that represent us, we would be in a better position to take decisions regarding our professional as well as personal lives. One such core number in many numerology compatibility analyses is the Life Path Number. This number is based on date of birth. It influences the numerology compatibility between two people, especially in romantic relationships. Typically, a numerology chart for any individual would contain other numbers as well which a numerologist or astrologer would also consider while interpreting life-changing events for patrons.

Know your Life Path Number

To find out your life path number, you would have to reduce each unit of your birth date to a single digit number. You would then have to add each of the resulting digits and reduce the total to a single number. For instance, if your date of birth is November 12th, 1985, your life path number can be calculated as follows:

â€¢ Month: November is the 11th month of the year; 11 reduces to 2. (1 + 1 = 2)

â€¢ Date: The date of birth is 12th; 12 reduces to 3. (2+1 = 3)

â€¢ Year: The year of birth is 1985. 1985 reduces to 5. (1 + 9 + 8 + 5 = 23, then 2 + 3 = 5) â€¢ Now, adding the single digit numbers corresponding to the month, date, and year of birth, we get the life path number.

â€¢ In this care, the life path number would be 2 + 3 + 5 = 10. To get a single digit number, we would have to add further, so that the life path number is 1.

According to numerology compatibility analysis, a number 1 person would be most compatible with numbers 3 and 5. The â€œbossy and opinionatedâ€• number 1 tends to have a good relationship with the â€œhappy go luckyâ€• number 3 or the â€œflexible and adventurousâ€• number 5. These and other forms numerology compatibility analysis can help us with the choices we make in our careers and love life.

There is a definite demand for reliable and nearly accurate numerology compatibility analysis; and astrologers, numerologists, and tarot card readers have been quick to cater to the same. Nowadays, one can even get numerology birthday forecasts at the click of a button from an astrology or numerology site. The only precondition would be to ensure that the site that you are looking up is reliable and represents the best in the business. Some of these sites are quite ingenious and you might even find a name numerology calculator for easy reference.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/religion-articles/know-your-numerology-compatibility-and-be-more-aware.htm - Article Side

Renesmee - About Author:
Prem Jyotish, a renowned astrologer and numerologist, offers a numerology compatibility analysis that helps people become more successful in personal and professional lives. Consult Prem Jyotish for your a numerology birthday and find out what the stars hold for you.

Article Keywords:
numerology compatibility, name numerology calculator, numerology birthday

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!