A Longstanding Champion – Partagas Cigars Havana House

Article published on February 7th 2012 | Shopping

Partagas cigars have been around since 1845, and today are one of the oldest standing brands of quality tobacco. Cigars and pipes are smoked by people who like a touch of class to their smoking habits, and often like to experiment with different brands and tastes. However, in reality, locating good brands and quality tobacco everywhere is a problem. While a big town or the city may have a good tobacco store, smaller towns may not. Apart from the factor of availability, there is a question of variety to consider. A single shop can only stock so many varieties, and you may not find a great range to explore.

Have you considered the advantages if you buy cigars online? There are many tobacco merchants who sell their products through online websites. Unlike a small tobacco store, these merchants have quite a larger of different blends and brands for you. From great Partagas cigars, to other Havana or Cuban blends; a good tobacco merchant will never let you down. This is why it is increasingly popular to buy cigars online. Besides, when you can pay online and have your cigars delivered to your doorstep; why bother going hunting in different shops?

Partagas Cigars have a great history attached to them. But here is a small fact file about the brand that will let you know a bit more about this exquisite cigar –

The brand is accredited as one of Havana’s™ and Cuba’s™ best cigar manufacturers. This is no easy feat, because there are quite a number of famed brands from Cuba.

Two competing companies manufacture under the Partagas branding – Habanos SA from Cuba and General Cigar Company from the Dominican Republic.

Both use the original blending, roasting, and manufacturing techniques used since back in 1845.

Partagas cigars have an annual sales figure of over 10 million cigars.

In 2002, many hand rolled machine finished products from the company were cut down. This dismayed many connoisseurs; but in fact, it attempted to segregate between hand rolled and machine rolled cigars and increase production quality.

Partagas also has two machine made cigarillos and a brand of cigarettes in production.

If you want to buy cigars online, you can choose from different types and tastes offered by the longstanding Partagas brand. Depending on your preferred taste and willingness to experiment; you can try out the various special blends and cut sizes. For the more intense connoisseur, you can even try ordering the rare Limited Editions of Partagas cigars that are made almost every year since 2000.
