The pregnancy is the most important stage of womenâ€™s life and also an amazing stage where a new child is created inside the bomb of mother. Though the pregnancy period looks rosy and full of happiness there are also some discomforts, problems that a woman faces during this period. One such problem is the clothing for a pregnant woman. A bauchband helps to some existing in solving this problem. The body size generally increases during pregnancy and especially the belly bulges. This makes the favorite jeans tight and wearing a shirt from the existing wardrobe to keep the skin covered would be a difficult task. Under the circumstances, instead of going in for an altogether new wardrobe, Bauchband can be used to get a trendy look along with the existing wardrobe. They give coverage and also a trendy look to the open skin that the shirts or jeans cannot give. They are also helpful in giving a protective layer to the tummy and back. Some Bauchband come with an extra cover at the back to give support to the back. The Bauchband help in providing some comfort to the pregnant lady.

The bauchbinde or the abdominal binders are used in the television shows. They are inscribed with the name of the speaker and the function. They are mostly used in the television media and also in the public functions. The normal way of displaying the bauchbinde is to make them appear after the person has started his speech. The information is generally in the form of a rectangular piece which is placed at the bottom side of the television. These bauchbinde is used to provide an introduction of the person speaking to the viewer. They help the audience in identifying the person and get a short introduction about the person and the function. Without bauchbinde, many people may not be able to identify the speaker.
